Ike Pleased By French Action On Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials from President Eisenhower on down made no secret of their gratification at the French vote approving Germany's entrance into the Atlantic Alliance.

At the President's holiday headquarters in Augusta, Ga., the White House press secretary, James C. Hagerty, told a news conference the President "is gratified at the turn the proceedings have taken."

But he said there would be no formal statement until the French Assembly completes action on a whole series of treaties designed to rearm Germany as a sovereign member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The final package vote, following Monday night's 289-251 approval of German entry into NATO, may not come until Wednesday or even Thursday.

Dulles In Touch

At the State Department, Secretary Dulles was withholding official comment, too. But he was keeping in touch by telephone with Eisenhower at Augusta and with U.S. Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon at Paris.

Members of the Senate reacted quickly with such statements as "welcome news" and "any kind of victory is a great one."

Eisenhower and Dulles had been biding their time since making it known over the weekend that they were deeply disturbed by the French Assembly's initial rejection of the Allied plan for rearming Germany.

The U.S. official view then was one of full endorsement of the British Foreign Office's grim reminder to France that West Germany would rearm with or without Paris' approval—that the question was not whether, but how.

'Welcome' News

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) called the initial vote "welcome news of the greatest historical significance to all the free world."

Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, cautioned that the vote in the French National Assembly "is by no means the absolute last word, because the pact must now be implemented safely, promptly and effectively."

Other senators appeared equally jubilant. Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said that if the initial vote expressed the opinion of the Chamber of Deputies on the whole issue of German rearmament, then, "this is the biggest stride since the formation of NATO for North Atlantic security."

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.), a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said the first vote indicated that, "Things look pretty good for the West." Ratification of the several documents by an even more slender margin, he said, "would still be a great thing."

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) hailed the vote as "a victory to the joint defense of Western Europe."

Sens. Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Humphrey (D-Minn.), both members of the Foreign Relations Committee, also expressed gratitude.

California Churned By Gales

Wind Whips Up $2 Million Fire

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Winds that hit up to 90-miles an hour lashed Southern California Monday, toppling trees and powerlines in the foothills, ripping a roof from a Glendale home, churning up clouds of dust and creating general havoc.

In Fullerton, the gale-like blow fanned into fury a citrus warehouse district fire that roared through three big storage plants and a dress factory, causing damage estimated conservatively at $2,500,000.

Another wind-fanned blaze at Temple City destroyed the Cafe Conchino, with loss estimated at $47,500.

The weather Bureau said the lashing winds, sweeping down from the northeast across the desert, would continue through Tuesday and start to diminish Tuesday night.

At La Crescenta, power failure halted operation of an Iron lung housing Mrs. Delores Nelson, 38, a polio patient, and endangered her life until the Southern California Edison Co., rushed a portable generator to her home.

Motorists traveling between San Bernardino and Ontario reported auto damage by the wind-whipped sand.

The Weather Bureau said pilots had reported seeing several water spouts along the coast between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara.

Jet Plane Crash Kills Kearney Man, 2 Others

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP)—Three air force men were killed Monday when two Jet planes smashed together with terrific force while coming in for a landing at Moody Air Force base.

A spokesman at Moody identified the three men as:

First Lt. Rex Allen Van Camp, 25, pilot of Kearney, Neb., a Korean combat veteran who won the DFC and Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters. Survivors include his widow, Bernice Evelyn, and his mother.

First Lt. Henry George Keene, 23, of Collinsville, Ill., radar observer, and first Lt. Albert Brown Dickey Jr., 24, of Booneville, Ark., pilot.

One plane went down in flames. The other spun straight into the ground and a wing-tip tank broke off and started a fire in nearby woods.

Two of the three men were found dead in ejected seats. The third crashed in the burning aircraft.

Alert For Reds

CANNES (INS)—There won't be any spying from the air over southern France, even by Communist birds, if one patriotic fisherman can help it. Agence France Presse reports that a Cannes fisherman, who found a seagull wearing a leg band with Russian writing, promptly turned the bird over to the police.

Beatrice Officer Plays Santa Role By Flying From Germany

By BILL HINEL
Star Staff Writer

BEATRICE, Neb. — It's a long way from Spangdahlen Air Base in Germany to Beatrice, but the distance only made Christmas the merrier for 2nd Lt. Ronald Cass, 21, of Beatrice and 59 other military personnel stationed in Germany.

Lt. Cass was one of the group which chartered a Scandinavian Air Service D-C 6 airplane to fly home for Christmas. The trip cost $18,000-$300 each—for the round trip.

According to Cass, "The trip was cheap for a wonderful Christmas at home."

The others, 57 men and two women, were from various units stationed in Germany.

Preparations for the trip started months ago. In fact, plane reservations had to be made by Nov. 1.

Hitch-hiked From New York

The plane left Germany Dec. 17 and landed at Idlewild Airport, New York, on Dec. 18. From Idlewild, men had to make their own ways to their various homes. Lt. Cass hitch-hiked a plane ride to Chicago.

Only one other man was from Nebraska, Airman Second Class Callahan from North Platte.

"There were plenty of boys who wanted to make the trip home, but this was the only trip of its kind that I know of," Lt. Cass said. "I guess I was one of the lucky ones."

At Beatrice, Ronald spent Christmas with his two brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cass and Mr. and Mrs. Gayther Cass, and nine nieces and nephews.

Another Santa Claus

Lt. Cass was like another Santa Claus to the children. He had dolls and cars and other toys, all from Germany.

Lt. Cass was unable to be with his mother, Mrs. Beatrice Cass of Richland, Calif., because she was unable to come to Beatrice to meet him.

But if the weather holds out, Lt. Cass may make it to California to see her before his 28 days of furlough ends Jan. 14.

Cass has been in Germany as an Air Force photo observer for nine months.

Spangdahlen Air Base is located in central Germany in a farming community about 30 miles from Luxembourg.

10 Skate Areas Ready—After They Freeze

A total of 10 Lincoln ponds will be available for ice skaters this winter but Park Superintendent James Ager has warned that the ice is still too thin for skating.

Two or three days of zero temperatures are needed to freeze the water in Oak Creek Lake for skating, Ager said, and other areas need two or three days of 10 to 15 degree temperatures.

Winter Descends On State

Southeast Braced As First Big Storm Crosses Nebraska

Southeast Nebraska residents were bracing for the year's first big winter storm Monday night, as snow began falling after a day which saw light precipitation freeze eastern Nebraska highways to a glaze.

Slick highways claimed the life of a Lincoln man Monday night two miles west of Eagle on Highway 34.

By early Tuesday, some temperatures over the state dipped to as low as 3 degrees at Sidney, 10 at Chadron, 11 at Imperial and Scottsbluff, and 13 at Valentine. Lincoln's early morning low was 25 degrees.

Locally, it snowed Monday evening and left streets slick. Other Nebraska points reporting moisture were Omaha, Lexington, Imperial, North Platte and Valentine.

The forecast called for cloudy skies with moderate snow and colder temperatures through Monday night, and moderate to heavy snow Tuesday with a high around 28 degrees. Skies will clear Tuesday night.

Fresh northerly winds were expected to whip four inches of snow over the entire state Tuesday. Monday night lows predicted were 10 degrees in the northwest and 25 in the southeast.

Meanwhile, residents of the western part of the state were thankful for the white stuff that brought much needed moisture to the soil on Monday.

In Lincoln, agricultural officials were jubilant over the western Nebraska snow and the help it'll provide the winter wheat crop as well as acting to hold loose topsoil.

H. G. Bobst of the Soil Conservation Service told the Associated Press the situation in western Nebraska had become "very touchy."

In most places, wheat was off to a "good start," but lacked a protective snow cover," Bobst said.

Kimball, Dalton, and Imperial received four inches of snow, while Benkelman and Grand Island reported two inches and a trace respectively.

Norfolk had received no precipitation late Monday, and skies were cloudy both there and at North Platte.

Travel was hazardous on some western roads, according to the State Patrol, because of packed snow and spotted ice conditions. From Lincoln east, glare ice coated the highways, and southward the condition was spotted.

To the west of Lincoln, there was some packed snow, and northward, highway conditions were near normal, according to the patrol.

Slide Kills 25

CALI, Colombia (AP)—Dispatches reaching here reported at least 25 persons dead, scores injured and many left homeless by a landslide that engulfed 25 homes at the town of Carmen on Colombia's Pacific coast.

The 25 known dead were buried under tons of mud and stone loosened by recent rains in the towering Andes Mountains.

Quake Shakes Lipari Islands

MESSINA, Sicily (AP)—A rolling earthquake, with shocks felt intermittently for 11 hours, caused damage and panic Monday on two of the Lipari Islands, off northeast Sicily.

Radio advices from the islands said three houses collapsed, many others were badly damaged and several persons were injured.

Most of the population fled to the hills soon after the shocks began at 4:30 a.m. The quakes continued at intervals until 3:30 p.m.

West Germany's Entry Into NATO Is Approved

French Assembly Delays Its Crucial Rearming Vote

PARIS (Tuesday) (AP)—The French National Assembly late last night approved the entry of West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization by a 289-251 vote of confidence in Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

The first among many in the Western world to applaud his inconclusive victory was President Eisenhower, at Augusta, Ga.

But the Assembly then forced the Premier to ask for two new votes of confidence as he fought a step-by-step battle for endorsement of the whole series of series of treaties he was negotiating to rearm West Germany. The two new votes of confidence will be taken on Wednesday.

The assembly adjourned for the night.

The question of whether Mendes-France will be thrown out, after six months in office, thus remains up in the air. So does the question of whether Germany will be taken in as a rearmament partner of the West in the defense of Europe against communism.

One Package Deal

For although the Assembly voted for West Germany's admission into NATO, it agreed by a show of hands on an amendment which wrapped up all treaties in the series of Paris accords into one package for purposes of ratification.

This amendment was a guarantee against any parliamentary quirk which would permit one or more of the treaties being approved and the others rejected.

The treaty on which the Assembly has gagged was the agreement to permit West Germany to rearm and bring an army of 500,000 men into the enlarged seven-nation West European Union.

The Assembly, by a 280 to 259 vote that rocked Mendes-France and alarmed Washington and London, defeated the WEU treaty last Friday, and that issue remained the crucial one after the Assembly adjourned early today.

One of the votes of confidence Wednesday will be on a new bill.

Board Cool To Report On Health

Didn't Talk With Him, Rogers Says

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

The State Board of Health was not exactly happy with the report of the committee of citizens appointed by Gov. Robert Crosby to investigate mental health conditions in the state.

A sub-committee of the physicians on the board was named to conduct an investigation of mental health education, which seemed to be the principal complaint with the report, and write the governor as to its findings.

It was pointed out that the Health Department has been responsible for disbursement of federal funds for mental health education and their activities were not mentioned in the report.

Questioned by the board, Dr. E. A. Rogers, director, said that the investigating committee had never discussed with him mental health problems in the state or the contribution they had made to improving mental health education of the people of the state.

The board tabled a request from chiropractors that they sponsor a bill that would permit chiropractors to prescribe and use narcotics in their profession at least until such time as a copy of the bill is presented for study.

Dr. Rogers was instructed to notify all drug stores that commencing Jan. 1, 1955, disciplinary action will be taken on all who are convicted of violating the federal pure food and drug laws.

Finance Difficulties

It was reported that the Bureau of Examining Boards is having difficulties in financing from fees collected and it was decided to ask the legislature to eliminate the 15 per cent of collections that now go into the general fund. This is charged in lieu of rent for office space.

It was also decided to increase the fee for delinquent renewals of licenses from $1 to $5 and make a similar increase in fees for duplicate and certified copies of licenses. Basic science examination fees were voted increased from $10 to $15.

These fees, it was explained, compare favorably with fees charged in other states for similar services.

Permanent Step Says Air Base May Be Used Commercially

One problem in connection with the permanent classification of the Lincoln Air Force Base—use of the field by commercial airlines—has apparently been solved.

Mayor Clark Jeary has been advised by the Department of the Air Force that if the city gives the government fee simple title to the Base property, the government will make a separate written agreement guaranteeing joint use of the field except in time of "extreme emergency."

This is one of two points Jeary has insisted upon before putting the question of government ownership of the land to a vote of the people. The other question, reversion of the land to the city if ever abandoned by the government, must still be solved.

The Air Force letter, signed by John M. Ferry, special assistant for installations, stated that the government would, in event of abandonment of the Base, return the property to the city under the then existing federal laws governing land disposition.

Jeary has stated, however, that he wants something more detailed and permanent to go on in this regard.

DONALD STEVENS

Road Ice Fatal For Lincolnite

Car-Truck Crash On U.S. 34 Kills Donald Stevens

A thinly-glazed ice patch was blamed for the death of a Lincoln man in a car-truck collision two miles west of Eagle on U.S. 34 Monday.

Donald B. Stevens, 24, of 1117 H, was killed when the car he was driving skidded across the highway's center line into the path of a westbound truck. The truck driver, Gerald A. Gibbs, 43, of Olney, Ill., was uninjured.

Stevens, the father of a 15-day-old daughter, was on his way to Kansas City to re-enlist in the Air Force. He had been discharged from the service Dec. 8.

Investigating state patrolmen said the road ice was the first on the highway east out of Lincoln and speculated that Stevens was probably unaware of its slickness. Further east on 34, the officers said, the glaze became more hazardous.

Gibbs' truck was owned by Kelly Well Co., of Grand Island.

Surviving Stevens are his wife, Charlotte; the infant daughter, Rose Marie; a twin sister, Dorothy Stevens; his father, Bryant Stevens of Indianola, Kan.; and two brothers.

Colonel Arrested

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Usually reliable sources said police have arrested Lt. Col. Jorge Echeverria, named by President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra as the ringleader in a plot last week to overthrow the government, and four others charged with taking part in the brief, unsuccessful revolt.

U.S. Wins Davis Cup

The United States Davis Cup team Monday night took the world tennis championship from Australia for the first time since 1950 by winning the first three matches of the series.

Favored Missouri beat Nebraska of the Big Seven basketball tournament.

Nebraska's Orange Bowl football preparations hit a snag in Miami when starting halfback Ron Clark was unable to run on an injured ankle.

West Germany's Entry Into NATO Is Approved

French Assembly Delays Its Crucial Rearming Vote

PARIS (Tuesday) (AP)—The French National Assembly late last night approved the entry of West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization by a 289-251 vote of confidence in Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

The first among many in the Western world to applaud his inconclusive victory was President Eisenhower, at Augusta, Ga.

But the Assembly then forced the Premier to ask for two new votes of confidence as he fought a step-by-step battle for endorsement of the whole series of series of treaties he was negotiating to rearm West Germany. The two new votes of confidence will be taken on Wednesday.

The assembly adjourned for the night. The question of whether Mendes-France will be thrown out, after six months in office, thus remains in the air. So does the question of whether Germany will be taken in as a rearmament partner of the West in the defense of Europe against communism.

One Package Deal
For although the Assembly voted for West Germany's admission into NATO, it agreed by a show of hands on an amendment which wrapped up all treaties in the series of Paris accords into one package for purposes of ratification.

This amendment was a guarantee against any parliamentary quirk which would permit one or more of the treaties being approved and the others rejected.

The treaty on which the Assembly has gagged was the agreement to permit West Germany to rearm and bring an army of 500,000 men into the enlarged seven-nation West European Union.

The Assembly, by a 289 to 259 vote that rocked Mendes-France and alarmed Washington and London, defeated the WEU treaty last Friday, and that issue remained the crucial one after the Assembly adjourned early today.

One of the votes of confidence Wednesday will be on a new bill brought in by Mendes-France in an effort to reverse the earlier defeat—ratifying WEU and German rearmament.

The second will be on West German admission into NATO. The second is necessary because parliamentary rules require approval paragraph by paragraph and then as a whole. The vote last night was on individual articles.

The deputies appeared to be in a reluctant mood, giving in to the premier on the unpopular issue when they had to, to avoid throwing out the government, but using all the parliamentary tricks to raise new hurdles.

They sat from 3 p.m. yesterday until almost 4 a.m. today, debating and then executing a series of votes and maneuvers.

A heavy police guard kept anti-ratification demonstrators at a distance.

Suggestion Accepted
In resubmitting the bill on German rearmament, Mendes-France accepted one important suggestion from a Radical Socialist deputy—that a subcommittee in each house of Parliament have the right to give an opinion before the French government can consent to a peacetime increase in the size of the armed forces of WEU members.

Under the treaty the WEU is given the right to limit the size of the forces of West Germany and the other members.

It was on WEU that the maneuvering began early today when Mendes-France proposed that the Assembly hold a second reading on the measure it defeated last Friday.

If the Assembly would add Italy and Germany to the five WEU nations—France, Britain, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg—Germany would become a full shooting partner.

If Mendes-France gets by the WEU hurdle on second reading the Assembly will then vote on the whole of a bill which has two separate main sections—expansion of WEU and admission of West Germany into NATO. It is under WEU that West Germany would be rearmament.

If Mendes-France is still riding high after that the Assembly will have yet another vote on the whole network of treaties and protocols which provide for admission of West Germany into WEU and NATO, the return of sovereignty to West Germany and the French-German agreement on the Saar. The Assembly already has approved the last two features separately.

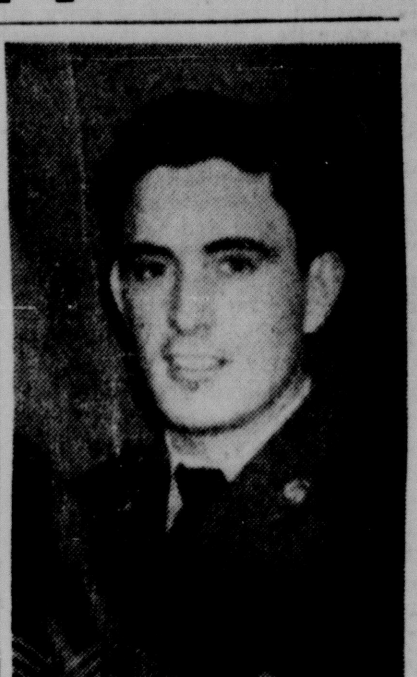

Picks Up 30 Votes
Mendes-France-voted the "Man of the Year" for 1954 by a poll of editors of Associated Press member newspapers and radio stations—picked up 30 votes over his surprising setback last Friday when the deputies had balked at rearmament Germany. This was the result of a weekend of vigorous efforts at persuasion among the deputies.

With 289 in his column last night, however, he still had only 46 per cent of the total Assembly membership on the side of admitting the Germans to the Atlantic Alliance.

Finance Difficulties
It was reported that the Bureau of Examining Boards is having difficulties in financing from fees collected and it was decided to ask the Legislature to eliminate the 15 per cent of collections that now go into the general fund. This is charged in lieu of rent for office space.

It was also decided to increase the fee for delinquent renewals of licenses from $1 to $5 and make a similar increase in fees for duplicate and certified copies of licenses. Basic science examination fees were voted increased from $10 to $15.

These fees, it was explained, compare favorably with fees charged in other states for similar services.

Road Ice Fatal For Lincolnite

Car-Truck Crash On U.S. 34 Kills Donald Stevens

A thinly-glazed ice patch was blamed for the death of a Lincoln man in a car-truck collision two miles west of Eagle on U.S. 34 Monday.

Donald B. Stevens, 24, of 1117 H. was killed when the car he was driving skidded across the highway's center line into the path of a westbound truck. The truck driver, Gerald A. Gibbs, 43, of Olney, Ill., was uninjured.

Stevens, the father of a 15-day-old daughter, was on his way to Kansas City to re-enlist in the Air Force. He had been discharged from the service Dec. 8.

Investigating state patrolmen said the road ice was the first on the highway east out of Lincoln and speculated that Stevens was probably unaware of its slickness. Further east on 34, the officers said, the glaze became more hazardous.

Gibbs' truck was owned by Kelly Well Co., of Grand Island.

Surviving Stevens are his wife, Charlotte; the infant daughter, Rose Marie; a twin sister, Dorothy Stevens; his father, Bryant Stevens of Indianola, Kan.; and two brothers.

Colonel Arrested
QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Usually reliable sources said police have arrested Lt. Col. Jorge Echeverria, named by President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra as the ringleader in a plot last week to overthrow the government, and four others charged with taking part in the brief, unsuccessful revolt.

Permanency Step Says Air Base May Be Used Commercially

One problem in connection with the permanent classification of the Lincoln Air Force Base—use of the field by commercial airlines—has apparently been solved.

Mayor Clark Jeary has been advised by the Department of the Air Force that if the city gives the government fee simple title to the Base property, the government will make a separate written agreement guaranteeing joint use of the field except in time of "extreme emergency."

This is one of two points Jeary has insisted upon before putting the question of government ownership of the land to a vote of the people. The other question, reversion of the land to the city if ever abandoned by the government, must still be solved.

The Air Force letter, signed by John M. Ferry, special assistant for installations, stated that the government would, in event of abandonment of the Base, return the property to the city under the then existing federal laws governing land disposition.

Jeary has stated, however, that he wants something more detailed and permanent to go on in this regard.

... Segregation Court Ruling No. 2

By PAUL R. MICKELSON

Associated Press General News Editor

The biggest news story of 1954 had all the elements of a Broadway smash hit. It had two big acts and a wonderful supporting cast. It had a record run and a record audience.

Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's feud with the United States Army and his condemnation by the United States Senate was the big headline of the year. A real melodrama of politics with dramatic scenes off the main stage wings, it was topped near year's end with the Wisconsin senator's open break with President Eisenhower.

The Supreme Court's decision that racial segregation in public schools was unconstitutional was ranked the second biggest story of the year by editors in the annual Associated Press poll, but it didn't come close to harvesting the emotions and headlines devoted to McCarthy and his battles. The Army hearings started McCarthy and Joseph Welch, attorney for the Army, and millions saw and heard it over TV and radio. Together with the censorship hearings, which brought condemnation by a 67 to 22 vote against McCarthy for abusing Congressional committees, the McCarthy feuds required 61 days of official testimony.

No other story, except for past wars and daily weather forecasts, ever achieved such records for sustained Page 1 play in American newspapers. At the finish, the Republican party, like the Communist-hunting senator, had one arm in a sling with the 1956 presidential elections not very far away.

How and When Undecided

The ruling did not end segregation at once, but set further hearings, now held up due to the death of Justice Robert H. Jackson, to decide how and when to end the practice.

3. On March 1, an almost unbelievable thing happened. Four fanatics seated in the House of Representatives gallery in Washington, suddenly shouted, "Free Puerto Rico!" waved their flag and began shooting. When the wild fusillade of some 20 shots had ended, blood was spilled in the honored legislative chamber. Five congressmen were wounded.

It Was Close

4. When the votes were counted, the nation discovered it had held one of the closest off-season elections in history. The Democrats won control of the House and Senate, but by nothing like the average margins run up against the party in power in non-presidential year voting.

All but one of the remaining Big Ten news stories of the year were concerned with the cold war that grew hotter in many places.

5. This was the West's biggest diplomatic triumph of the year—the historic agreement reached by nine anti-Communist allies Oct. 21 on formation of the Western European Union. The pact to bring the Bonn Republic into the Western European Union followed agreement by American, British, French and West German ministers on terms to end nearly 10 years of occupation of Germany.

6. There was defeat as well as triumph. The greatest defeat for the West was the fall of Dien Bien Phu to the Communists.

Sanford Bates Begins Study

Sanford Bates, internationally known penologist, Monday began a survey of the three penal institutions in Nebraska at the request of the Board of Control. He said he expected the task would require "four or five days."

It was disclosed by the board that the Newark, N.J., prison management veteran would study the Men's Reformatory in Lincoln and the Women's Reformatory at York as well as the penitentiary here.

He met with the board for a brief briefing before going to the penitentiary. He questioned the board closely on the manner in which insane prisoners are handled in the state.

Bates is a former director of all federal prisons and previous to that time was warden of eastern prisons. He is now a consultant to New York officials and an instructor in New York colleges.

Bates declined to talk about his assignment here and the board explained that he would "have nothing to say" until the study is completed.

He was invited to Nebraska after a committee of citizens made a study for Gov. Robert Crosby which was highly critical of penitentiary operations and recommended a change in the prison administrative personnel.

The report was generally favorable on the other two penal institutions.

William Diers, chairman of the board, said Bates would be paid $100 a day for making the investigation and recommendations.

Diers, a Democrat, has served longer on the board than any previous member. Speculation has arisen over whether he will be re-appointed by Gov.-elect Victor E. Anderson when his term expires July.

The former Gresham merchant, served four terms in the Legislature and was elected speaker. He has announced that he will not serve another six-year term but might consider re-appointment for a short period until the program of rehabilitating state institutions is completed.

Appointment has to be made within 20 days after the Legislature convenes. Anderson and Diers have conferred, but both refuse to state the topic of conversation. One rumor is current that an Omaha man will get the appointment. It must be a Democrat to maintain the bi-partisan makeup of the board.

Family Has 'Real Christmas' Overcoming Past Hardships

By DICK SIMONSON

Star Staff Writer

Thanks to Uncle Sam, Cpl. Doyle Beavers arrived home from Germany in time to be present for the birth of his little girl last Wednesday.

But that isn't the whole story. Behind it is a train of circumstances and events which could only have been overcome by sheer courage.

Two years ago, Mrs. Beavers contracted polio—in fact, two types—bulbar and spinal. With the help of modern therapy and her own determination, the young woman has overcome the dread malady almost completely.

"I am sort of anxious to resume my swimming," she said from her hospital bed—taking her eyes momentarily from tiny Joy Ellen.

Swimming is in itself a form of therapy for victims of the disease.

Cpl. Beavers, 23, who was stationed with the Ninth Army Division in West Germany, received special permission for 30 days' furlough in order to be home at the time of his daughter's Christmas birth at a local hospital.

He was ordered overseas last spring shortly after he married 21-year-old Joyce, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Hobbs of 3840 C.

Now, however, with only six months' service remaining, Beavers will be stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

"We don't know if the baby and I'll be able to join him or not," the young mother said. Both patients are "fine," according to doctors, and plan to leave the hospital this week.

But right now at least, they are together. And words can't describe the aura of happiness surrounding the new parents and their little girl.

They'd had a "real" Christmas.

Gas Rates Increased 12½ Pct.

Wholesale Jump Pushes Rate Up; Immediate Effect

By BILL DOBLER

Star Staff Writer

Retail gas rates in Lincoln will be raised 12.5 per cent this week in accordance with an ordinance passed by the City Council. The ordinance carries the emergency clause which permits Central Electric and Gas Co. to place the new rates into effect immediately after publication of the ordinance.

The increase was granted as the result of an increase in wholesale rates from Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha.

This wholesale increase will cost Central $8,128,405 of which $489,000 is applicable to the Lincoln system. Only a part of this increase, however, is expected to be finally approved by the Federal Power Commission.

The difference between the rates charged now and the rate finally approved by the FPC will have to be refunded to customers. The Council cut out a proposal by Central that such refunds be made through reduced rates rather than direct refunds to individual customers.

Central had expressed the hope of saving certain bookkeeping and accounting costs by refunding through rate reductions.

Also knocked out by the Council was a Central proposal for automatic adjustments of retail rates in accordance with wholesale rates.

Mayor Clark Jeary stated that the city feels it "wants to have a look" at all changes in retail rates rather than using an automatic adjustment system.

The 12.5 per cent increase is a cut of some $32,000 a year in the amount of the increase requested by Central to meet higher wholesale costs. Jeary stated, however, that the rate approved by the Council would still give Central a 6 per cent return on its rate base or investment.

Company Attorney Lloyd Marti stated that while not what Central had asked for, the company is not objecting to the ordinance.

Debate now without higher retail rates would be costly to Central as the new wholesale rates go into effect Dec. 27.

Rush Hour Holdup Nets $1,537

Cash Taken In Lunchbox; 1st City Bank Job

By ROY CAMPBELL

Star Staff Writer

FREMONT, Neb. — A "lunch-bucket" bandit who made off with $1,537 in a dinner pail from the First National Bank of Fremont and made his getaway on foot Monday was still at large early Tuesday.

The daring noon-hour holdup was pulled during the bank's rush period. It was estimated there were 15 to 20 people in the bank at the time.

The robber, described as about 25 years old, dark hair, 5 foot seven inches tall and weighing 150 pounds, waited his turn in line behind depositors before demanding the money. He thrust a used black lunch bucket and a note at teller Max Paulson.

Paulson said the man kept his right hand in his jacket pocket and nudged it toward the teller's cage, indicating he held a gun. Paulson said he acted nervous and told him to "fill it up."

Threatening Note

The note said: "Give me all the money in the drawer. I have a gun pointed at your head. And hurry. Don't sound an alarm for five minutes or I promise I will come back to see you."

The note was signed "Pretty Boy Floyd," famous call name of the Oklahoma bank robber Charles Arthur Floyd who operated in the '30s.

Paulson said he didn't know if the robber had a gun, "but I wasn't going to take any chances." Said the teller, who has worked at the bank for a year, "he said he had a gun and that was good enough for me."

Paulson added that when the robber left, he followed him to the door shouting news of the holdup, and followed the man through the business district for a block, but lost him when he turned west.

Burglar Alarm Inoperative

The bank, three blocks from the police station, until five years ago had a burglar alarm that now is not in use and not operating.

Police Chief Robert F. Millard immediately set up road blocks with his force of 17 men and held a close check for approximately an hour. He was joined by the State Safety Patrol under Capt. Ervin Schottler and Sheriff Pelham McGee of Dodge County.

FBI agents under Bill Williams, special agent in charge at Omaha, investigated the robbery. Fingerprints were taken from the note itself, which the robber left, and the sill in front of the teller's cage.

J. M. Sorensen, executive vice president, who disclosed the exact loss, said the robber got the money in small bills from 20's on down.

Teller Had Less Cash

There were three other tellers on duty at the time Paulson was held up. The bandit apparently picked on the window with the least money in its compartment. According to bank officials, the window next to Paulson's held several thousand dollars more than Paulson's.

The bank is situated at 5th and Main in Fremont and is in the heart of the downtown business section.

More Counties File Heintze Suit Answers

Three more counties—bringing the total to 16—filed answers Monday to the gas tax suit brought by State Treasurer Frank Heintze against Nebraska's 93 counties.

Although Monday was deadline day for answers, attorneys have agreed not to hold in default any county not answering that early.

The latest three counties to file, which entered special appearance objecting to jurisdiction of the Lancaster District Court in the matter and an improper joinder of parties, were Stanton, Wheeler and Greeley Counties.

Heintze, in his declaratory judgment action, seeks court determination of the proper distribution of gas tax money to the counties.

He has deposited $2,895,973.98, representing gas tax funds collected but not distributed, with the court.

Mist counties answering the suit to date filed special appearances, objecting to the Lancaster district court's jurisdiction in the case. Counties in this category include Harlan, Sioux, Scotts Bluff, Douglas, Cherry, Greeley, Loup, Stanton and Wheeler.

Garfield County filed a general denial; Adams and Clay Counties filed demurrers.

It is one of three banks in the city, none of which previously had been held up, according to Police Chief Millard.

Paulson said he felt something was wrong when the robber started toward his window, just after he finished taking a deposit from a woman. He said he saw the robber standing by one of the bank's counters as if making out a deposit slip.

A farm management company officer, Al Nore, whose offices are up above the bank, said the man who robbed Paulson stopped him in the lobby and chatted with him for several minutes. Nore said "it seemed funny he was getting friendly with me."

A bank officer, A. C. Sidner, said he noted the robber on his way out, walking casually, and was unaware that a holdup had taken place.

Police, who got a call on the robbery around 12:10 p.m., continued combing the area around Fremont far into the night. The bus station, railroad station, railroad yard and hotels, and rooming houses were being checked.

Paulson, 27, formerly is from Genoa. His parents now live in Stromsburg.

Post Office Hits New Peak For Yule Mail

The Lincoln Post Office in 1954 chalked up a new all-time record for Christmas mailing.

Supt. of Mails Gerald Jones estimated the final figures for the seasonal mailing at 5 to 8 per cent more than the 1953 record.

During the 1954 season, Dec. 1 through 26, the Lincoln office handled first and fourth-class mail, both incoming and outgoing, totaling 2,154,448 pounds as compared with 2,081,159 for the similar 1953 period.

During the Dec. 10 to 23 "peak" mailing period, the Lincoln office handled 4,700,053 pieces of mail as compared with 4,466,311 for the same period in 1953. Parcel post totaled 17,234 sacks as compared with 15,015 for the previous year.

Peak days for first-class mail were Dec. 17 for incoming mail and Dec. 20 for outgoing.

The break-down in pounds for 1954 and 1953 with the percentage of increase follows:

Class	1954	1953	Increase
1st Incoming	1,407,763	1,311,922	13.82%
4th Incoming	1,029,047	986,580	4.3%
1st Outgoing	1,458,845	1,343,398	10.75%
4th Outgoing	836,763	828,159	1.4%

10-Vehicle Crash On Icy Highway Hurts Iowa Tot

A Bettendorf, Ia., child received a bruised head in a 10 vehicle crash about four miles east of Elmwood on U. S. Highway 34, Safety Patrolman reported.

Trooper B. A. Molczyk of Lincoln identified the little girl as Diane Taylor, daughter of Richard R. Taylor, the driver of the first car.

The nine-auto and one auto transport pileup occurred near the bottom of a hill and was blamed on the icy highway. Three cars owned by Richard E. Pyle, Lincoln, Harold J. Norris, Lincoln, and George F. Kimmey, Lincoln Air Force Base, received considerable damage.

Two cars collided originally and the drivers of the other cars were unable to stop, Molczyk said.

Lincolnite Begins Speeding Term

OMAHA (AP)—John Gies, 37, Lincoln, Monday surrendered himself to Douglas County authorities and began a 25-day jail sentence on three traffic violation charges. He was found guilty on the speeding charges by District Judge L. Ross Newkirk, who fined him $300 and suspended his driver's license for five months in addition to the jail sentence. The jail sentence had been suspended until Monday to permit Gies, a trucker, to get his affairs in order.

Survey Of Police Will Be Made

A detailed study of some of the operations of the Lincoln Police Department has been approved by the City Council.

The study will be made by the traffic institute of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. It was the director of the institute, George C. Bowers, who recommended after a preliminary survey that additional study is needed.

Bowers recommended further study on the following six points:

1. To determine the current and future personnel and equipment needs.
2. Evaluate operation policies and procedures.
3. Re-align and make more effective the traffic records operation.
4. Analyze the training program.
5. Provide a modern, efficient accounting system for traffic citations.
6. Outline and suggest immediate and long range improvements in all phases of the traffic supervision program.

Bowers stated that his report was not intended "to indicate that the present operation is wholly inefficient. Amazing progress has been made in the Police Department in the face of a growing problem and a marked personnel shortage. However, with a growing problem, manifested by the expansion of the Air Base, there is urgent need to re-examine present activity and to prepare a plan by which the program and the expansion of the Police Department can be guided throughout the next few years."

All work by the institute is done on a cost basis with a maximum price of $3,500 set on the detailed Lincoln study. Mayor Clark Jeary said he will begin negotiations immediately to get the work under way.

MEDICAL JOURNAL REPORTS PROOF YOU CAN SPARE YOUR FAMILY DAYS OF SUFFERING FROM COUGHS OF COLDS

Here's Relief So Different It Will Change All Your Ideas About Cough Syrups

Six Leading Cough Syrups Tested in Medical Center. Results Vital to You.

Never before could any leading cough syrup promise you so much. Think of it! A new kind of cough syrup specially made, not only to relieve coughing faster and more completely, but also to shorten the duration of the cough!

Here are Facts:

After testing six leading cough syrups on patients of all ages for two years in a prominent clinic, doctors published their findings in a Medical Journal article. They reported that new Vicks Medi-Trating Cough Syrup was not only the "best of the preparations tested," but also cut the duration of coughs of colds by at least two full days.

Right now... with colds threatening, these findings are especially important to you.

Cetamium is the Answer

One reason why Vicks Medi-Trating Cough Syrup is so effective, the report concluded, is that it contains Cetamium. This remarkable new penetrating ingredient carries relief-bringing medicine to the cough-irritated crevices of the throat. There, it medicates as it penetrates. In addition, Vicks Medi-Trating Cough Syrup also works through the system to speed breaking up of the cough.

Proved Safe for Children

Doctors also learned that Vicks Medi-Trating Cough Syrup was the only cough syrup tested that did not upset the stomach of any patient, regardless of age. This feature, plus its pleasant flavor, makes it ideal for children.

So spare your child days of suffering from coughs of colds. Use new, more effective Vicks Medi-Trating Cough Syrup.

MEDICAL JOURNAL REPORTS:

Matched, point for point, against five other leading cough preparations, Vicks Cough Syrup:

1. Helped reduce the duration of the cough by 2 full days.
2. Started to bring relief 39% faster than the average.
3. Brought more complete relief from coughs.
4. Was the only preparation tested that did not upset the stomach of a single patient.

Diers, a Democrat, has served longer on the board than any previous member. Speculation has arisen over whether he will be re-appointed by Gov.-elect Victor E. Anderson when his term expires July.

The former Gresham merchant, served four terms in the Legislature and was elected speaker. He has announced that he will not serve another six-year term but might consider re-appointment for a short period until the program of rehabilitating state institutions is completed.

Appointment has to be made within 20 days after the Legislature convenes. Anderson and Diers have conferred, but both refuse to state the topic of conversation. One rumor is current that an Omaha man will get the appointment. It must be a Democrat to maintain the bi-partisan makeup of the board.

Family Has 'Real Christmas' Overcoming Past Hardships

By DICK SIMONSON

Thanks to Uncle Sam, Cpl. Doyle Beavers arrived home from Germany in time to be present for the birth of his little girl last Wednesday.

But that isn't the whole story. Behind it is a train of circumstances and events which could only have been overcome by sheer courage.

Two years ago, Mrs. Beavers contracted polio—in fact, two types—bulbar and spinal. With the help of modern therapy and her own determination, the young woman has overcome the dread malady almost completely.

"I am sort of anxious to resume my swimming," she said from her hospital bed—taking her eyes momentarily from tiny Joy Ellen.

Swimming is in itself a form of therapy for victims of the disease.

Cpl. Beavers, 23, who was stationed with the Ninth Army Division in West Germany, received special permission for 30 days' furlough in order to be home at the time of his daughter's Christmas birth at a local hospital.

He was ordered overseas last spring shortly after he married 21-year-old Joyce, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Hobbs of 3840 C.

Now, however, with only six months' service remaining, Beavers will be stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

"We don't know if the baby and I'll be able to join him or not," the young mother said. Both patients are "fine," according to doctors, and plan to leave the hospital this week.

But right now at least, they are together. And words can't describe the aura of happiness surrounding the new parents and their little girl.

They'd had a "real" Christmas.

Gas Rates Increased 12½ Pct.

Wholesale Jump Pushes Rate Up; Immediate Effect

By BILL DOBLER

Star Staff Writer

Retail gas rates in Lincoln will be raised 12.5 per cent this week in accordance with an ordinance passed by the City Council.

The ordinance carries the emergency clause which permits Central Electric and Gas Co. to place the new rates into effect immediately after publication of the ordinance. The increase was granted as the result of an increase in wholesale rates from Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha.

This wholesale increase will cost Central $8,128,405 of which $489,000 is applicable to the Lincoln system. Only a part of this increase, however, is expected to be finally approved by the Federal Power Commission.

The difference between the rates charged now and the rate finally approved by the FPC will have to be refunded to customers. The Council cut out a proposal by Central that such refunds be made through reduced rates rather than direct refunds to individual customers.

Central had expressed the hope of saving certain bookkeeping and accounting costs by refunding through rate reductions. Also knocked out by the Council was a Central proposal for automatic adjustments of retail rates in accordance with wholesale rates.

Mayor Clark Jeary stated that the city feels it "wants to have a look" at all changes in retail rates rather than using an automatic adjustment system.

The 12.5 per cent increase is a cut of some $32,000 a year in the amount of the increase requested by Central to meet higher wholesale costs. Jeary stated, however, that the rate approved by the Council would still give Central a 6 per cent return on its rate base or investment.

Company Attorney Lloyd Marti stated that while not what Central had asked for, the company is not objecting to the ordinance.

Debate now without higher retail rates would be costly to Central as the new wholesale rates go into effect Dec. 27.

Rush Hour Holdup Nets $1,537

Cash Taken In Lunchbox; 1st City Bank Job

By ROY CAMPBELL

Star Staff Writer

FREMONT, Neb. — A "lunch-bucket" bandit who made off with $1,537 in a dinner pail from the First National Bank of Fremont and made his getaway on foot Monday was still at large early Tuesday.

The daring noon-hour holdup was pulled during the bank's rush period. It was estimated there were 15 to 20 people in the bank at the time.

The robber, described as about 25 years old, dark hair, 5 foot seven inches tall and weighing 150 pounds, waited his turn in line behind depositors before demanding the money. He thrust a used black lunch bucket and a note at teller Max Paulson.

Paulson said the man kept his right hand in his jacket pocket and nudged it toward the teller's cage, indicating he held a gun. Paulson said he acted nervous and told him to "fill it up."

Threatening Note
The note said: "Give me all the money in the drawer. I have a gun pointed at your head. And hurry. Don't sound an alarm for five minutes or I promise I will come back to see you."

The note was signed "Pretty Boy Floyd," famous call name of the Oklahoma bank robber Charles Arthur Floyd who operated in the '30s.

Paulson said he didn't know if the robber had a gun, "but I wasn't going to take any chances." Said the teller, who has worked at the bank for a year, "he said he had a gun and that was good enough for me."

Paulson added that when the robber left, he followed him to the door shouting news of the holdup, and followed the man through the business district for a block, but lost him when he turned west.

Burglar Alarm Inoperative
The bank, three blocks from the police station, until five years ago had a burglar alarm that now is not in use and not operating.

Police Chief Robert F. Millard immediately set up road blocks with his force of 17 men and held a close check for approximately an hour. He was joined by the State Safety Patrol under Capt. Ervin Schottler and Sheriff Pelham McGee of Dodge County.

FBI agents under Bill Williams, special agent in charge at Omaha, investigated the robbery. Fingerprints were taken from the note itself, which the robber left, and the sill in front of the teller's cage.

J. M. Sorensen, executive vice president, who disclosed the exact loss, said the robber got the money in small bills from 20's on down.

Teller Had Less Cash
There were three other tellers on duty at the time Paulson was held up. The bandit apparently picked on the window with the least money in its compartment. According to bank officials, the window next to Paulson's held several thousand dollars more than Paulson's.

The bank is situated at 5th and Main in Fremont and is in the heart of the downtown business section.

Paulson said he felt something was wrong when the robber started toward his window, just after he finished taking a deposit from a woman. He said he saw the robber standing by one of the bank's counters as if making out a deposit slip.

Stopped, Chatted
A farm management company officer, Al Nore, whose offices are up above the bank, said the man who robbed Paulson stopped him in the lobby and chatted with him for several minutes. Nore said "it seemed funny he was getting friendly with me."

A bank officer, A. C. Sidner, said he noted the robber on his way out, walking casually, and was unaware that a holdup had taken place.

Police, who got a call on the robbery around 12:10 p.m., continued combing the area around Fremont far into the night. The bus station, railroad station, railroad yard and hotels, and rooming houses were being checked.

Paulson, 27, formerly is from Genoa. His parents now live in Stromsburg.

More Counties File Heintze Suit Answers

Three more counties—bringing the total to 16—filed answers Monday to the gas tax suit brought by State Treasurer Frank Heintze against Nebraska's 93 counties.

Although Monday was deadline day for answers, attorneys have agreed not to hold in default any county not answering that early.

The latest three counties to file, which entered special appearance objecting to jurisdiction of the Lancaster District Court in the matter and an improper joinder of parties, were Stanton, Wheeler and Greeley Counties.

Heintze, in his declaratory judgment action, seeks court determination of the proper distribution of gas tax money to the counties.

He has deposited $2,895,973.98, representing gas tax funds collected but not distributed, with the court.

Mist counties answering the suit to date filed special appearances, objecting to the Lancaster district court's jurisdiction in the case. Counties in this category include Harlan, Sioux, Scotts Bluff, Douglas, Cherry, Greeley, Loup, Stanton and Wheeler.

Garfield County filed a general denial; Adams and Clay Counties filed demurrers.

It is one of three banks in the city, none of which previously had been held up, according to Police Chief Millard.

Paulson said he felt something was wrong when the robber started toward his window, just after he finished taking a deposit from a woman. He said he saw the robber standing by one of the bank's counters as if making out a deposit slip.

Stopped, Chatted
A farm management company officer, Al Nore, whose offices are up above the bank, said the man who robbed Paulson stopped him in the lobby and chatted with him for several minutes. Nore said "it seemed funny he was getting friendly with me."

A bank officer, A. C. Sidner, said he noted the robber on his way out, walking casually, and was unaware that a holdup had taken place.

Police, who got a call on the robbery around 12:10 p.m., continued combing the area around Fremont far into the night. The bus station, railroad station, railroad yard and hotels, and rooming houses were being checked.

Paulson, 27, formerly is from Genoa. His parents now live in Stromsburg.

American Motorists Set New Two-Day Traffic Death Record

391 Die On Roads, 63 In U.S. Fires

By The Associated Press
America's motorists set a ghastly new two-day record during the Christmas holiday weekend when 391 died in traffic tragedies — and an over-all total of 514 accident victims was reported.

Automobiles accounted for the great majority of fatalities but 63 persons died in fires during the 54-hour, 2-day period. Falls, bullets, drownings and miscellaneous mishaps accounted for 60 others. That figure included one small boy who died with a lollipop wedged in his throat.

One fire which lashed out when kerosene was splashed in a wood stove took 12 lives at Parkin, Ark. There were no such single mass disasters on the highways, but state traffic death tolls for the period were heavy in some sections. Texas counted 35 traffic deaths, California 23, and Pennsylvania 25.

None in Nebraska
In contrast, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wyoming got through the weekend with no accident deaths.

The National Safety Council estimated several days before the holiday that 370 persons would be killed in traffic.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council, said: "Certainly there must be a better way for a civilized nation to spend Christmas than by killing more than 500 innocent people on the highways and in their own homes. We can only hope that the shock of this toll will result in greater care, courtesy and common sense over New Year's."

The over-all hourly rate of accident deaths from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday throughout the nation was 9.44. This compared with 7.77 deaths per hour during the catastrophic four-day observance of Independence Day in 1950 when 793 persons were killed by accidents.

City Light Fund Distribution OK

The City Council has approved the drawing of a $45,846.57 warrant on the Commercial Light fund for payments in lieu of taxes for 1954.

The payment represents 5 per cent of the gross revenue for the Light Department for the 1953-54 fiscal year. The in lieu payment will be distributed according to the mill levy of the various subdivisions, with the state receiving $6,309.41, the county $2,969.02, the Sanitary District $1,496.43, the school district $25,269.25 and the city $9,802.46.

Fenton, Kinsey Watch Legislature For City

Councilmen Joseph Fenton and Chauncey W. D. Kinsey have been named as the City Council's legislative committee.

The Council members will meet with representatives of the board of Sanitary District 1 to discuss proposed bills for the state Legislature governing the sanitary sewer responsibilities of the city and district and a sewage charge system.

Fenton and Kinsey will also be advised by City Attorney Jack Pace of all bills introduced at the 1955 legislative session affecting the city of Lincoln.

Youths Enter Pleas On Frat House Burglary

Two Lincoln teen-agers have pleaded guilty in Lancaster County Court to burglary of a fraternity house, but a 20-year-old youth also charged has pleaded innocent.

Minor Blaine Tuggle, 18, of 229 No. 12th, and a 17-year-old youth, the latter on Christmas leave from the Kearney State Industrial School, admitted in their pleas to breaking into the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity house at 5305 Huntington last Friday.

The younger youth, and a third teen-ager also on Christmas leave from the industrial school, were apprehended near Seward in a stolen vehicle by the Safety Patrol.

The third teen-ager will be returned to Kearney, authorities said.

Police said a record player and clock were taken from the fraternity house and that the 18 and 17-year-old youths were also involved in a burglary of a 1345 G apartment house, where a watch, electric razor and three lighters were taken.

The 20-year-old youth, John Richard Vincent of 3510 W., has denied any participation in the fraternity house break-in.

Vincent is currently on three years' probation following conviction in November on second-offense petit larceny.

Boy With Too Many Gifts Gets His Last Wish

CHICAGO (AP)—Seven-year-old Steven Lewis got so many Christmas gifts he asked his nurse to give the bulk of them to other patients in the children's ward at Illinois Research Hospital.

In all, there were 700 cards, books, toys and games he received from relatives, neighbors and others. They were distributed throughout the ward.

"I can't keep them all myself," Steven said. "There's too much for one little boy."

Steven died of leukemia the day after Christmas.

Council Faces Problem On New Area Storm Sewers

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The City Council has been presented with the problem of where to spend the city's storm sewer money first, in new additions or older areas that have waited years for such improvements.

When the city went to the voters with a $3.5 million storm sewer bond issue proposal, the people were told of 60 much needed sewer projects that could be handled for that amount. However, new additions to the city were not included in that picture.

City Engineer Carl Fisher has told the Council of three such new additions now being planned or under way that call for some $100,000 in storm sewer work. And there are many other such areas now being talked about, Fisher added.

Fisher referred to the plat of 204 lots in first addition to Eastborough, 66th to 70th from Vine to X and 126 lots in a plat east of 70th and south of Vine. Storm sewer needs in those two areas were cited by Fisher to be near $80,000.

In the third area, M to O from 52nd to 56th, some $13,500 in storm sewers is needed, Fisher said.

Fisher reminded the Council that people in these new areas would be paying taxes on their homes and thus assuming their fair share of the cost of retiring the $3.5 million in storm sewer bonds.

If the city does not construct storm sewers in new development, Fisher said, builders will tend to concentrate on the high spots only and leave the low lands vacant. This, he said, will make the cost of other utilities higher as the low land would have to be crossed to reach the higher regions.

It was suggested by Fisher that a plan might be worked out whereby the city and developers of new areas split the cost of storm sewers. If the developer pays the entire bill, he said, the eventual home buyer foots that bill plus the taxes on the bond issue.

City Planning Engineer Douglas Brodgen cited another four developments that are in the talking stage that would require storm sewer expenditures if the projects materialized. The four developments covered some 170 acres.

The subject will be discussed by the Council at a Tuesday afternoon meeting.

Omahan Charged In FHA Loan Case

OMAHA (AP)—The federal government Monday charged Frank W. Philippi, 42, Omaha, with making false statements to obtain 14 Federal Housing Administration insured home improvement loans totalling over $10,000.

Deputy U.S. District Attorney William C. Spire said Philippi said he used the money to pay debts.

Philippi was released on $1,000 bond after appearance before U.S. Commissioner M. O. Cunningham.

Government Takes Over Land For Air Base Use

U. S. District Judge John W. Delehant has ordered 44.10 acres of land near the Lincoln Air Force Base surrendered to the federal government.

Compensation of $15,550 has been estimated by the acquiring authority. When deposited with the court, fee simple title of the land will be vested in the United States.

The land, located north and east of the highway and railroad, will be used for additional facilities at the base. Fourteen parties were named in the action as having claim or interest in the property.

Science Learns How To Stop Asthma Attacks

Doctors Find New Tiny Tablet Gives Relief In Minutes...Lasts For Hours!

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Medical science has developed a new, tiny tablet that stops asthma attacks... and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

Authoritative medical tests have proved that this remarkable compound brings blessed relief in mere minutes... relief that lasts for hours.

This fast-acting formula is prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients. And now asthma sufferers can obtain this formula—without prescription—in tiny, easy-to-take tablets called "Primatene".

New Primatene helps relieve asthma spasms these important ways: (1) opens bronchial tubes so that breathing is natural; (2) loosens mucous congestion; (3) relieves taut, nervous tension. All this without taking painful injections, and without the inconvenience of nebulizers.

The secret of Primatene is that it combines 3 medicines found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each medicine performs a special purpose.

Primatene is available at all drug stores. The price is only 98¢ for a bottle of twenty-four tablets. And remember—if not entirely satisfied, your money will be refunded promptly.

So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from anxiety by day. Get Primatene, today!

American Motorists Set New Two-Day Traffic Death Record

391 Die On Roads, 63 In U.S. Fires

By The Associated Press
America's motorists set a ghastly new two-day record during the Christmas holiday weekend when 391 died in traffic tragedies — and an over-all total of 514 accident victims was reported.

Automobiles accounted for the great majority of fatalities but 63 persons died in fires during the 54-hour, 2-day period. Falls, bullets, drownings and miscellaneous mishaps accounted for 60 others. That figure included one small boy who died with a lollipop wedged in his throat.

One fire which lashed out when kerosene was splashed in a wood stove took 12 lives at Parkin, Ark. There were no such single mass disasters on the highways, but state traffic death tolls for the period were heavy in some sections. Texas counted 35 traffic deaths, California 29, and Pennsylvania 25.

None In Nebraska
In contrast, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wyoming got through the weekend with no accident deaths.

The National Safety Council estimated several days before the holiday that 370 persons would be killed in traffic.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council, said: "Certainly there must be a better way for a civilized nation to spend Christmas than by killing more than 500 innocent people on the highways and in their own homes. We can only hope that the shock of this toll will result in greater care, courtesy and common sense over New Year's."

The over-all hourly rate of accident deaths from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday throughout the nation was 9.44. This compared with 7.77 deaths per hour during the catastrophic four-day observance of Independence Day in 1950 when 793 persons were killed by accidents.

City Light Fund Distribution OK

The City Council has approved the drawing of a $45,846.57 warrant on the Commercial Light fund for payments in lieu of taxes for 1954.

The payment represents 5 per cent of the gross revenue for the Light Department for the 1953-54 fiscal year. The in lieu payment will be distributed according to the mill levy of the various subdivisions, with the state receiving $6,309.41, the county $2,969.02, the Sanitary District $1,496.43, the school district $25,269.25 and the city $9,802.46.

Fenton, Kinsey Watch Legislature For City

Councilmen Joseph Fenton and Chauncey W. D. Kinsey have been named as the City Council's legislative committee.

The Council members will meet with representatives of the board of Sanitary District 1 to discuss proposed bills for the state Legislature governing the sanitary sewer responsibilities of the city and district and a sewage charge system.

Fenton and Kinsey will also be advised by City Attorney Jack Pace of all bills introduced at the 1955 legislative session affecting the city of Lincoln.

Youths Enter Pleas On Frat House Burglary

Two Lincoln teen-agers have pleaded guilty in Lancaster County Court to burglary of a fraternity house, but a 20-year-old youth also charged has pleaded innocent.

Minor Blaine Tuggle, 18, of 229 No. 12th, and a 17-year-old youth, the latter on Christmas leave from the Kearney State Industrial School, admitted in their pleas to breaking into the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity house at 5305 Huntington last Friday.

The younger youth, and a third teen-ager also on Christmas leave from the industrial school, were apprehended near Seward in a stolen vehicle by the Safety Patrol.

The third teen-ager will be returned to Kearney, authorities said.

Police said a record player and clock were taken from the fraternity house and that the 18 and 17-year-old youths were also involved in a burglary of a 1345 G apartment house, where a watch, electric razor and three lighters were taken.

The 20-year-old youth, John Richard Vincent of 3510 W., has denied any participation in the fraternity house break-in.

Vincent is currently on three years' probation following conviction in November on second-offense petit larceny.

Boy With Too Many Gifts Gets His Last Wish

CHICAGO (AP)—Seven-year-old Steven Lewis got so many Christmas gifts he asked his nurse to give the bulk of them to other patients in the children's ward at Illinois Research Hospital.

In all, there were 700 cards, books, toys and games he received from relatives, neighbors and others. They were distributed throughout the ward.

"I can't keep them all myself," Steven said. "There's too much for one little boy."

Steven died of leukemia the day after Christmas.

Up-And-Coming Beatrice

The flourishing, prosperous Nebraska community on the Big Blue, Beatrice, has had a reputation for solid, conservative leadership. Now its Chamber of Commerce has been advised by officials of the National Municipal League that Beatrice gains the distinction of being one of the runners-up in the 1954 All-American Cities Awards contest. Actually it missed top honors by only a slender margin.

Its people have good foundation for modest pride in achievement. It was one of 22 cities to enter the charmed circle of finalists out of 225 nominations for award honors.

City and county government in Nebraska comes in for increasing re-examination. If any political subdivision in this state has been dragging its feet, probably the finger must be pointed at county government. There have been few if any changes in Nebraska county government since the beginning of statehood. In this modern era we could get along with a third of the number of counties we now have at a very considerable saving, but the chances of re-organization are exceedingly slim.

Meanwhile city government moves ahead. Beatrice after study and thought gave approval to a change in its form of government and to a provision for streamlining various city departments. It is to be congratulated. It can say to itself, "Here is work well done."

Agriculture In 1955

The December review of the Tenth Federal Reserve Bank District, of which Nebraska is a part, foresees the new year as one in which agricultural production, income and costs will remain approximately at 1954 levels.

The Federal Reserve based its observations on its own familiarity with the economic picture in its seven-state area, but drew its general principles from the discussions of the annual Agricultural Outlook Conference sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Those later conclusions looked for the continuing population growth to increase demand for foodstuffs and decrease surpluses somewhat. And they anticipated a hold-even condition in national employment. The view is that such surpluses in agricultural products as the nation has experienced lately is not an indictment of a progressive and effective agricultural industry. Nor is it a situation that calls for a drastic overhauling of agriculture. But rather it is a temporary imbalance that a growing country itself will bring into line. Present agricultural production, indeed, in a few years probably would spell a deficiency.

That is a most encouraging note—a confidence-inspiring call from the future, giving force and direction to farm planning.

Nebraska agriculture cannot say that 1953 was a banner year. It was full of changes and uncertainties of price-cost relationships that caused hardship to some. But in the main it was a sound year.

The assurance of another such year tells the farmer that he can expect to come out about the same in 1955 if he continues to farm as he did in 1954. But if he expects to do better it will be up to his own resourcefulness—his ability to diversify successfully—his talent for growing as much or more for less cost.

In Nebraska such a trend is already in evidence. The past year showed a significant growth in well-irrigation—new interest in fertilizers, ventures in diversification and experiments for more effective and more economical livestock production.

The outlook is not bad. A resourceful people can always make it and Nebraska, one can be sure, has anticipated the Federal Reserve survey and has beaten it to the punch.

Acid Test Of Faith

When this was written Monday, French Premier Mendes-France faced an important vote on the issue of rearming West Germany as a part of the West European defense program. He was reported to have picked up substantial strength. A powerful independent bloc of deputies, 145 strong in votes, had decided either to back the premier or as an alternative abstain from voting.

The showdown came near midnight Monday; the first test ending on a happy note.

Basically the issue before the French Assembly is one of faith. The West European unity program designed to serve as a defense against the Communist world does contain provisions intended to safeguard France. But France and only France can give the answer to a question which forces France either to brush aside its fears of a rearmed Germany or invite the possible chaos of tempting to do it alone. Opposition to a West Germany rearmament looks to the past, and in glancing back it must be admitted that nothing in the record provides assurance that West Germany will not turn against France if conditions suggest an advantage in so doing.

West German Chancellor Adenauer, with affairs well in hand, nevertheless is old and in French thinking, at least, he has become a symbol of West German purposes. So long as Adenauer remains at the helm of government in West Germany, there is nothing to be feared.

At a time most needed, perhaps this matter of trust and confidence among the free peoples of the world is at low ebb. They are bound together so much by mutual interests which they cherish highly.

Only yesterday, figuratively, concern centered itself in Asia and developments in the Far East. The Asiatic puzzle, we said then, occupied the spotlight in the entangled affairs of the world. Now overnight we switch back to France, possibly not so important in terms of resources as it is in the geography of the old continent. But Europe and what is happening in Europe becomes of first concern today.

In the first test of strength Monday night Mendes-France obtained an initial sweet taste of victory when the French Assembly voted confidence in him. Ahead, however, was the Assembly's acceptance or rejection of his program. The most important vote may deal with the future of The Saar.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

The battle over social security is by no means finished, it would seem. In South Bend, Clarence E. Manion—remember him?—now serving as co-chairman of "For America," labeled the federal social security program as a "palpable fraud" as insurance.

The charge is by no means new. It has been tossed around in Congress and out, but in mounting volume since the Eisenhower administration took over. Manion, who talked himself out of a job in the Eisenhower administration, now suggests the time is ripe for a warmed-up, cold potato.

"As fast as a cash balance accumulates in the social security program, it is lifted out and spent for the general expense of the government," he said. "In place of cash, the government puts its own IOU's—government bonds—into the reserve fund. Instead of an asset, therefore, the trust funds turn into an interest-bearing liability. If a private insurance company tried this stunt, its responsible officers would end up in the penitentiary." Manion concluded. That is a picture in darker tones than justified. If Uncle Sam's IOU's are not good, then nothing is good in the good ol' U.S.A.

Most unfortunate development that could confront us would be the widespread acceptance by the American people that they had been flim-flammed in believing the social security plan would take care of the non-productive years of old age. It will not be long before the babes born in 1937 attain maturity. The social security plan was launched that year. Shortly a generation will have lived its entire life under social security. If faith in their government is vital to strong government, then the attacks upon social security at this time could not other than create apprehension among millions of people.

There may be those who believe that the conservative tide which set in simultaneously with the advent of the Eisenhower administration has reached its peak and is now subsiding. We doubt that this is the case. Conservative groups in this country must be given credit for one quality. They are determined to make this a fight clear down to the wire. If 1954 brought them some successes in certain fields, then no stone is to be left unturned in 1955 to consolidate and to exploit those gains. The old tariff bloc virtually impotent since Cordell Hull developed the reciprocal trading agreement program will give it a try in the new Congress to upset every notion of a more generous trade policy. Those powerful interests opposed to social security may not get any place, but that does not mean they will not be trying. Mr. Eisenhower's chief difficulty is that in some things he wants to be a conservative and in others, a moderate liberal, with the result that much of the time there is confusion as to exactly where the President stands. That is right down the alley of the conservative. If there is one thing that will help him, it is to have confusion among millions of people, naturally friendly to the President.

Conservative Tide Not At Peak

There is little chance that any harmful revision of social security is to be anticipated in the new Congress, controlled by a narrow margin by Democrats. If anything, social security provisions will be liberalized.

Most Recognized

The American Portrait Artists Association has selected the 10 'most widely recognized faces' of 1954.

High on the list was President Eisenhower and Senator Joe McCarthy. The No. 1 scientist was Albert Einstein while Rocky Marciano moved right along with the other well known people.

Significantly at the time the selections were announced the Shah of Iran and his beautiful wife were strolling the streets of New York City virtually incognito so far as the hastening New Yorkers were concerned.

It all raises the question. What constitutes recognizability—the person or the circumstances around him?

The evidence seems to be toward the latter. Certainly in Iran the Shah's face would strike a response more widely than those of all the 10 selected by the artists, principally because he is the Shah.

The answer to it all seems to be if you want to be recognized, forget the face and the beauty treatments. Pick the right kind of work.

Living It Up

Even such a free man as the American citizen must pause and enviously admire the whimsical Jersey City carrier pigeon that recently became bored with its surroundings. It just took off with a flock of sea gulls and wound up taking a nice vacation near the Mediterranean. When it came time to come home the pigeon caught a ride on a passenger ship, found a warm berth in the engine room and ate like a king for free. How can you beat it?

THE LINCOLN STAR

World Divided Over Definition Of Man

WASHINGTON — Perhaps no Christmas in years has been preceded with such vital, though sometimes private, debate over the main goal Christ set for the world—peace—or its alternative—war.

President Eisenhower has been urged by potent advisers, men who are close to him, men he trusts, to take the awesome risk of war, even provoke a war at a time when the odds are in our favor. He has been urged to call for a show-down now rather than procrastinate until the odds have changed and victory would be difficult.

Persuasive, compelling arguments can be made and have been made for such a course. So far Eisenhower has not acted on them.

There is one overpowering reason why he has not acted. He has seen what few other civilians have seen, the full confidential reports on the hydrogen bomb. And he knows that the H-bomb is so terrible in its destructive power that there is almost no place left on the face of the earth where it can be tested.

Not even the vast reaches of the mid-Pacific are now considered safe for such a test; which is why an American icebreaker is now exploring the frozen wastes of the South Pole to see if a test could be made there. Already the government of New Zealand has registered a protest, fearing the contaminating "fall-out" of radioactive dust.

Eisenhower, reading the full details of these confidential reports, knows that no spot in the world would be immune from modern war once modern war started. He knows that innocent people living in distant Latin America, or in the Himalayas of India, or in the jungles of Africa, who may never even have heard of war, would feel the effects of the next war nonetheless.

He also knows that the hydrogen bomb is so powerful that scientists predict the possibilities of chain reaction and even the end of civilization.

Those who have talked to Eisenhower know how he feels on this question, how worried he is about any move which might risk plunging the world into war.

RUSSIAN WORRIES

There are also reports received by the State Department that those in the Kremlin, who have conducted their own experiments on the hydrogen bomb likewise knows its full death-dealing potential; likewise are worried. How true these reports are, no one knows; but Ambassador Bohlen, recently in Washington, thinks he has detected a new tractability in the Kremlin never present in Stalin's day.

This may be completely deceptive and cannot of course be taken as fact.

What can be taken as fact are two attitudes of the Kremlin toward the Russian people. As I pointed out yesterday, the greatest lesson taught the world by Jesus of Nazareth was that man is the son of God and should strive to be like God. This lesson—the dignity of man—is one never learned by Hitler nor by Stalin.

Man in the Soviet system is a tool, a mere cog in the machine by which the Communist regime steps to power and maintains power.

I remember so vividly on a trip to Siberia about five years after the Bolshevik revolution, seeing men lying in the streets unnoticed. It was cold. They could have frozen but people walked by unconcerned.

In the United States, people would have stopped. Someone would have summoned an ambulance. But not in the Soviet where life is cheap.

RUSSIA'S GREAT WEAKNESS

This cheapness of life in the Soviet is at one and the same time the greatest strength and greatest weakness of the Soviet system. It is a strength, because men can be sacrificed in battle—or in the factory—millions of men—and there is no nauseous reaction from the public. At least there hasn't been much in the past.

But it is also a weakness; because twinges of nausea are beginning. The teaching of Christ that man is not a beast, but the son of God, is beginning to have its impact, even on the Soviet.

This began some time ago and was one reason why 3,000,000 Russians deserted to the Germans during the invasion of 1941.

And it is also one reason—the chief reason—for the Iron Curtain. The Kremlin cannot afford today to have the Russian people know the truth about other people, know that they are warm, friendly human beings, with an unquenchable desire to get along with their fellow men.

They can't afford to have them know that in America, as in most Western countries, man comes first, not the state; that the state exists only for the well-being and happiness of the individual citizen; and that the individual citizen, thanks to the great goal set by Christ, has gradually become the most respected and important part of our governmental system.

This gets to the very heart of our problem with Russia.

LIFTING IRON CURTAIN

I don't want to oversimplify, but it seems to me that if we can get the Russian people to understand and know the American people; if we can get them endowed with the same belief in the dignity of man; and realize that men don't have to engage in battles to destroy each other, then most of our worry over war would vanish.

The United States and Canada, the United States and England, Mexico, Cuba, Latin America, France, Scandinavia, are not going to war against each other because we know each other. One of the great essels of the Kremlin—one which permits its leaders to make war overnight—is that the Russian people do not know other people.

That's why the Eisenhower advisers who urge preventive war have some basis for their argument. For the Soviet, as it is geared today, can make war overnight. Consulting no Senate, worrying about no public opinion, it could lay waste the Democracies in a single night.

So the crossroads facing Eisenhower and the nation at this Christmas season and during the coming year are going to be the choice not of coexistence and preventive war, but between lifting the Iron Curtain and preventive war.

Coexistence is a mere patchwork, precarious means of getting along for the time being. Lifting the Iron Curtain, on the other hand, could pave the way to permanent peace.

Harriman Forces Eye Presidency

WASHINGTON — A strikingly large section of Who's Who among Democrats will take out a presidential insurance policy New Year's Day in the form of a pilgrimage to Albany, N.Y. Their purpose, of course, is to cheer loudly and recognizably when Averell Harriman takes over as governor.

Their prudent enthusiasm for the new secretary of state of New York will be scarcely less confined, for he is Carmine De Sapio, who for all intents and purposes will be in charge of the division of practical politics. Mr. De Sapio is the new look in Tammany leaders who co-operates with the party's better citizens instead of fighting them.

In bringing the top politician of the metropolitan area to Albany, Harriman is following exactly the pattern of his first political mentor, Franklin Roosevelt. Roosevelt couldn't do business with the Tammany of his day, but he had available the astute boss of the Bronx, the late Ed Flynn, who also could see beyond the borders of his county. The then Gov. Roosevelt named Flynn secretary of state and the 1932 Roosevelt presidential special was on the track.

Harriman himself continues to repeat that he is for the nomination of Adlai Stevenson in 1956, and there is no reason to doubt his sincerity. But he proved in 1952 that he believes he can be President, and for the bite of that bug there is no cure.

It was noticeable at New Orleans that De Sapio, who had no old ties of friendship to bind him, voted against Paul Butler, the Stevenson-stamped chairman, and with the big city bosses. Obviously he was preparing for all eventualities in this uncertain world.

An Anglemorm For Mother's Day

We had never seen her before. She was small, blonde, slightly grimy and dressed in jeans and a T-shirt. She was undoubtedly a refugee from a worried mother, but this seemed not to concern her at all. She was digging in our front yard.

Mrs. F. noticed her first, and called me softly. I went and stood beside her in the front door, looking out.

"Isn't she cute?" Mrs. F. chuckled. "I wonder what she's doing." "That's obvious," I retorted. "She is standing on her feet at one end and on her head at the other, and excavating our lawn with a stick. Maybe it's a kindergarten project for bumper lawns."

"Sssh!" said Mrs. F. "Watch!"

The small visitor had snapped to attention, if that is possible when one is in a sort of up-side down V shape. With head cocked on one side, she was gazing intently into the penny-sized foxhole she had created. The part of her that was highest in the air waggled with excitement. She straightened up and went around to the other side of the hole. She got down on all fours and poked a finger at it. She withdrew the finger quickly, just before making contact. Her pigtails vibrated.

"She's found something," Mrs. F. hissed.

That, too, was obvious. It was also obvious that, whatever it was, there was some doubt as to the wisdom of touching it. The small stranger solved her problem quickly. She retrieved the stick she had used for digging and moved it cautiously into the hole. There ensued an agonized period of waiting on our part while she attempted to balance something on the stick. Her small face puckered up into lines of concentration and her tongue came out a little way to help concentrate. Slowly, carefully, she lifted the stick out of the hole.

"It's a worm!" gasped Mrs. F. And so it was. Along, fat anglemorm dangled on the stick. Triumph replaced concentration on the small stranger's face. She moved slowly, pushing her feet ahead of her to assure a smooth gait, keeping her eyes on the anglemorm to aid balance. In spite of her care, it slid off. She went down on all fours again, and again came up with the worm draped across the stick. Then she moved quickly, but carefully off beside our house, through our back yard, towards the alley.

The last we saw of her, she had the look of a very small ballet dancer in grimy jeans, going triumphantly off stage. The stick was held far in front of her, its burden blurred in the distance.

"That little girl's mother," I chuckled, "is in for a distinct shock."

Mrs. F. grinned and went back to her work, but pretty soon she came to where I was reading the paper. I looked up.

"Gee," she said, "sometimes I wish ours were that size again. You never appreciate gifts like anglemorms until the children stop bringing them!"

I knew what she meant.

POSTCARD

Well, this morning I am in receipt of a communique from the Confrerie des Chevaliers du Tastevin.

I am a Chevalier du Tastevin. Which is to say a wine-tasting Knight. Among my Knightly duties, I must pass on new members. For the Confrerie is made up of high class, polished palates. It is dedicated to the vintages of Burgundy and we are constantly on guard lest some guzzler of square face should slip into the ranks.

My communication concerns Mr. Walter Ramage, the Reno innkeeper and gambler. So immediately I must get on the long distance blower and investigate.

I am now ready to report to the Confrerie.

My dear confreres: You have asked me to look into the qualifications of Monsieur W. Ramage. I note that you wish to know about his "gastronomique particulars."

I will state that M. Ramage is well known from the Forty-Mile Desert to the Washoe Valley as a

The Star regrets a typographical error which changed the sense of a significant paragraph in the letter, "Aylsworth Rebuttal." Monday, Dec. 27, giving live history of the Lincoln schools to illustrate his criticism of school publicity in connection with Lincoln's proposed school bond issue.

In its correct form the Aylsworth letter stated:

"In 1953 came a still larger levy of 2.68 mills to raise $413,176, followed this year (1954) by the levy of 4.96 mills to raise $710,534, or a total of $1,123,710 in building fund taxes on top of the $6,000,000 to make a grand total of $7,373,760 in four years for school sites, construction and equipment. Is this likely to be repeated if the present proposed bond issue is approved?"

Remember The Others

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Never has there been a Christmas in which Christ was more present, in which Christ was more honored. Never has Christ's birthday been more nobly celebrated. Never, I think, can Christ have been more pleased with His people.

No Iron or Bamboo Curtain can shut out from the hearts of Christians the joy of Christmas. The Communists do not know it, but Communism is defeated. It doomed itself when it attacked the servants of God and was unable to frighten them. It can break bishops but it cannot pervert them to its purposes. Communism has crashed head-on into the grace of God and it will not be God's grace that will be smashed. Had the Communists read history, they would have learned that all the world-be conquerors of the past failed because they tried to wipe out Divine Truth.

As we pray during this season of Christmas, we should especially remember those whose souls are prisoners of the iron dogmas of atheistic materialism. They, above all others, are to be pitied.

Thank You

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Many thanks again from the Lancaster County Tuberculosis Association for the wonderful support The Star always has given to our tuberculosis control program and

Up-And-Coming Beatrice

The flourishing, prosperous Nebraska community on the Big Blue, Beatrice, has had a reputation for solid, conservative leadership. Now its Chamber of Commerce has been advised by officials of the National Municipal League that Beatrice gains the distinction of being one of the runners-up in the 1954 All-American Cities Awards contest. Actually it missed top honors by only a slender margin.

Its people have good foundation for modest pride in achievement. It was one of 22 cities to enter the charmed circle of finalists out of 225 nominations for award honors.

City and county government in Nebraska comes in for increasing re-examination. If any political subdivision in this state has been dragging its feet, probably the finger must be pointed at county government. There have been few if any changes in Nebraska county government since the beginning of statehood. In this modern era we could get along with a third of the number of counties we now have at a very considerable saving, but the chances of re-organization are exceedingly slim.

Meanwhile city government moves ahead. Beatrice after study and thought gave approval to a change in its form of government and to a provision for streamlining various city departments. It is to be congratulated. It can say to itself, "Here is work well done."

Agriculture In 1955

The December review of the Tenth Federal Reserve Bank District, of which Nebraska is a part, foresees the new year as one in which agricultural production, income and costs will remain approximately at 1954 levels.

The Federal Reserve based its observations on its own familiarity with the economic picture in its seven-state area, but drew its general principles from the discussions of the annual Agricultural Outlook Conference sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Those later conclusions looked for the continuing population growth to increase demand for foodstuffs and decrease surpluses somewhat. And they anticipated a hold-even condition in national employment. The view is that such surpluses in agricultural products as the nation has experienced lately is not an indictment of a progressive and effective agricultural industry. Nor is it a situation that calls for a drastic overhauling of agriculture. But rather it is a temporary misbalance that a growing country itself will bring into line. Present agricultural production, indeed, in a few years probably would spell a deficiency.

That is a most encouraging note—a confidence-inspiring call from the future, giving force and direction to farm planning.

Nebraska agriculture cannot say that 1953 was a banner year. It was full of changes and uncertainties of price-cost relationships that caused hardship to some. But in the main it was a sound year.

The assurance of another such year tells the farmer that he can expect to come out about the same in 1955 if he continues to farm as he did in 1954. But if he expects to do better it will be up to his own resourcefulness—his ability to diversify successfully—his talent for growing as much or more for less cost.

In Nebraska such a trend is already in evidence. The past year showed a significant growth in well-irrigation—new interest in fertilizers, ventures in diversification and experiments for more effective and more economical livestock production.

The outlook is not bad. A resourceful people can always make it and Nebraska, one can be sure, has anticipated the Federal Reserve survey and has beaten it to the punch.

Acid Test Of Faith

When this was written Monday, French Premier Mendes-France faced an important vote on the issue of rearming West Germany as a part of the West European defense program. He was reported to have picked up substantial strength. A powerful independent bloc of deputies, 145 strong in votes, had decided either to back the premier or as an alternative abstain from voting.

The showdown came near midnight Monday; the first test ending on a happy note. Basically the issue before the French Assembly is one of faith. The West European unity program designed to serve as a defense against the Communist world does contain provisions intended to safeguard France. But France and only France can give the answer to a question which forces France either to brush aside its fears of a rearm Germany or invite the possible chaos of tempting to go it alone. Opposition to a West German rearm looks to the past, and in glancing back it must be admitted that nothing in the record provides assurance that West Germany will not turn against France if conditions suggest an advantage in so doing.

West German Chancellor Adenauer, with affairs well in hand, nevertheless is old and in French thinking, at least, he has become a symbol of West German purposes. So long as Adenauer remains at the helm of government in West Germany, there is nothing to be feared. At a time most needed, perhaps this matter of trust and confidence among the free peoples of the world is at low ebb. They are bound together so much by mutual interests which they cherish highly.

Only yesterday, figuratively, concern centered itself on Asia and developments in the Far East. The Asiatic puzzle, we said then, occupied the spotlight in the entangled affairs of the world. Now overnight we switch back to France, possibly not so important in terms of resources as it is in the geography of the old continent. But Europe and what is happening in Europe becomes of first concern today.

In the first test of strength Monday night Mendes-France obtained an initial sweet taste of victory when the French Assembly voted confidence in him. Ahead, however, was the Assembly's acceptance or rejection of his program. The most important vote may deal with the future of The Saar.

Most Recognized

The American Portrait Artists Association has selected the 10th most widely recognized faces of 1954.

High on the list was President Eisenhower and Senator Joe McCarthy. The No. 1 scientist was Albert Einstein while Rocky Marciano moved right along with the other well known people.

Significantly at the time the selections were announced the Shah of Iran and his beautiful wife were strolling the streets of New York City virtually incognito so far as the hastening New Yorkers were concerned.

It all raises the question. What constitutes recognizability—the person or the circumstances around him?

The evidence seems to be toward the latter. Certainly in Iran the Shah's face would strike a response more widely than those of all the 10 selected by the artists, principally because he is the Shah.

The answer to it all seems to be if you want to be recognized, forget the face and the beauty treatments. Pick the right kind of work.

Living It Up

Even such a free man as the American citizen must pause and enviously admire the whimsical Jersey City carrier pigeon that recently became bored with its surroundings. It just took off with a flock of sea gulls and wound up taking a nice vacation near the Mediterranean. When it came time to come home the pigeon caught a ride on a passenger ship, found a warm berth in the engine room and ate like a king for free. How can you beat it?

There is one overpowering reason why he has not acted. He has seen what few other civilians have seen, the full confidential reports on the hydrogen bomb. And he knows that the H-bomb is so terrible in its destructive power that there is almost no place left on the face of the earth where it can be tested.

Not even the vast reaches of the mid-Pacific are now considered safe for such a test; which is why an American icebreaker is now exploring the frozen wastes of the South Pole to see if a test could be made there. Already the government of New Zealand has registered a protest, fearing the contaminating "fall-out" of radioactive dust.

Eisenhower, reading the full details of these confidential reports, knows that no spot in the world would be immune from modern war once modern war started. He knows that innocent people living in distant Latin America, or in the Himalayas of India, or in the jungles of Africa, who may never even have heard of war, would feel the effects of the next war nonetheless.

He also knows that the hydrogen bomb is so powerful that scientists predict the possibilities of chain reaction and even the end of civilization.

Those who have talked to Eisenhower know how he feels on this question, how worried he is about any move which might risk plunging the world into war.

RUSSIAN WORRIES

There are also reports received by the State Department that those in the Kremlin, who have conducted their own experiments on the hydrogen bomb likewise know its full death-dealing potential; likewise are worried. How true these reports are, no one knows; but Ambassador Bohlen, recently in Washington, thinks he has detected a new tractability in the Kremlin never present in Stalin's day.

This may be completely deceptive and cannot of course be taken as fact.

What can be taken as fact are two attitudes of the Kremlin toward the Russian people. As I pointed out yesterday, the greatest lesson taught the world by Jesus of Nazareth was that man is the son of God and should strive to be like God. This lesson—the dignity of man—is one never learned by Hitler nor by Stalin.

Man in the Soviet system is a tool, a mere cog in the machine by which the Communist regime steps to power and maintains power.

I remember so vividly on a trip to Siberia about five years after the Bolshevik revolution, seeing

Harriman Forces Eye Presidency

WASHINGTON — A strikingly large section of Who's Who among Democrats will take out a presidential insurance policy New Year's Day in the form of a pilgrimage to Albany, N.Y. Their purpose, of course, is to cheer loudly and recognizably when Averell Harriman takes over as governor.

Their prudent enthusiasm for the new secretary of state of New York will be scarcely less confined, for he is Carmine De Sapio, who for all intents and purposes will be in charge of the division of practical politics. Mr. De Sapio is the new look in Tammany leaders who co-operates with the party's better citizens instead of fighting them.

In bringing the top politician of the metropolitan area to Albany, Harriman is following exactly the pattern of his first political mentor, Franklin Roosevelt. Roosevelt couldn't do business with the Tammany of his day, but he had available the astute boss of the Bronx, the late Ed Flynn, who also could see beyond the borders of his county. The then Gov. Roosevelt named Flynn secretary of state and the 1932 Roosevelt presidential special was on the track.

Harriman himself continues to repeat that he is for the nomination of Adlai Stevenson in 1956, and there is no reason to doubt his sincerity. But he proved in 1952 that he believes he can be President, and for the bite of that bug there is no cure.

It was noticeable at New Orleans that De Sapio, who had no old ties of friendship to bind him, voted against Paul Butler, the Stevenson-stamped chairman, and with the big city bosses. Obviously he was preparing for all eventualities in this uncertain world.

men lying in the streets unnoticed. It was cold. They could have frozen but people walked by unconcerned.

In the United States, people would have stopped. Someone would have summoned an ambulance. But not in the Soviet where life is cheap.

RUSSIA'S GREAT WEAKNESS
This cheapness of life in the Soviet is at one and the same time the greatest strength and greatest weakness of the Soviet system. It is a strength, because men can be sacrificed in battle—or in the factory—millions of men—and there is no nauseous reaction from the public. At least there hasn't been much in the past.

But it is also a weakness; because twinges of nausea are beginning. The teaching of Christ that man is not a beast, but the son of God, is beginning to have its impact, even on the Soviet.

This began some time ago and was one reason why 3,000,000 Russians deserted to the Germans during the invasion of 1941.

And it is also one reason—the chief reason—for the Iron Curtain. The Kremlin cannot afford today to have the Russian people know the truth about other people, know that they are warm, friendly human beings, with an unquenchable desire to get along with their fellow men.

They can't afford to have them know that in America, as in most Western countries, man comes first, not the state; that the state exists only for the well-being and happiness of the individual citizen; and that the individual citizen, thanks to the great goal set by Christ, has gradually become the most respected and important part of our governmental system. This gets to the very heart of our problem with Russia.

LIFTING IRON CURTAIN

I don't want to oversimplify, but it seems to me that if we can get the Russian people to understand and know the American people; if we can get them endowed with the same belief in the dignity of man; and realize that men don't have to engage in battles to destroy each other, then most of our worry over war would vanish.

The United States and Canada, the United States and England, Mexico, Cuba, Latin America, France, Scandinavia, are not going to war against each other because we know each other. One of the great essets of the Kremlin—one which permits its leaders to make war overnight—is that the Russian people do not know other people.

That's why the Eisenhower advisers who urge preventive war have some basis for their argument. For the Soviet, as it is geared today, can make war overnight. Consulting no Senate, worrying about no public opinion, it could lay waste the Democracies in a single night.

So the crossroads facing Eisenhower and the nation at this Christmas season and during the coming year are going to be the choice not of coexistence and preventive war, but between lifting the Iron Curtain and preventive war.

Coexistence is a mere patchwork, precarious means of getting along for the time being. Lifting the Iron Curtain, on the other hand, could pave the way to permanent peace.

(Copyright, 1954, By Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Harriman's forces in New York have already begun to discuss a presidential campaign pattern for him which will enable him to keep his word to Stevenson but protect his own interests. They are saying that if Stevenson is not nominated on the first ballot, he has had it.

Actually the Stevenson and Harriman appeals are much alike. Both are clean, honorable men, repositories of the best their party has to offer. Harriman is inarticulate where Stevenson is eloquent. But Harriman co-operates better with the professionals who grumble about the intellectuals and amateurs who surround Stevenson. Harriman is in office where Stevenson is out.

But neither has the quality for which many Democrats will look, believing they need it to beat President Eisenhower who possesses it so abundantly. This is the warm, human touch.

In regaining control of the state, New York Democrats of course have lost their alibi for the ills which afflict their principal source of strength, New York City. For the past 12 years city hall had been able to complain that the city was mistreated by Gov. Dewey, and it does seem fair to say that he was not precisely indulgent toward it. Harriman also will be coping for the first time with elective office and the problem of creating and not just executing policy. President Eisenhower can tell him how different life is when you have no place to pass the buck to.

After years in the trough, New York Democrats are making a showy comeback, but the problems to be met are enormous.

An Angeworm For Mother's Day

We had never seen her before. She was small, blonde, slightly grimy and dressed in jeans and a T-shirt. She was undoubtedly a refugee from a worried mother, but this seemed not to concern her at all. She was digging in our front yard.

Mrs. F. noticed her first, and called me softly. I went and stood beside her in the front door, looking out.

"Isn't she cute?" Mrs. F. chuckled. "I wonder what she's doing." "That's obvious," I retorted. "She is standing on her feet at one end and on her head at the other, and excavating our lawn with a stick. Maybe it's a kindergarten project for bumper laws."

"Sssh!" said Mrs. F. "Watch!"

The small visitor had snapped to attention, if that is possible when one is in a sort of upside-down V shape. With head cocked on one side, she was gazing intently into the penny-sized foxhole she had created. The part of her that was highest in the air wagged with excitement. She straightened up and went around to the other side of the hole. She got down on all fours and poked a finger at it. She withdrew the finger quickly, just before making contact. Her pigtails vibrated.

"She's found something," Mrs. F. hissed.

That, too, was obvious. It was also obvious that, whatever it was, there was some doubt as to the wisdom of touching it. The small stranger solved her problem quickly. She retrieved the stick she had used for digging and moved it cautiously into the hole. There ensued an agonized period of waiting on our part while she attempted to balance something on the stick. Her small face puckered up into lines of concentration and her tongue came out a little way to help concentrate. Slowly, carefully, she lifted the stick out of the hole.

"It's a worm!" gasped Mrs. F. And so it was. Along, fat, angled worm dangled on the stick. Triumph replaced concentration on the small stranger's face. She moved slowly, pushing her feet ahead of her to assure a smooth gait, keeping her eyes on the angled worm to aid balance. In spite of her care, it slid off. She went down on all fours, again, and again came up with the worm draped across the stick. Then she moved quickly but carefully off beside our house, through our back yard, towards the alley.

The last we saw of her, she had the look of a very small ballet dancer in grimy jeans, going triumphantly off stage. The stick was held far in front of her, its burden blurred in the distance.

"That little girl's mother," I chuckled, "is in for a distinct shock."

Mrs. F. grinned and went back to her work, but pretty soon she came to where I was reading the paper. I looked up.

"Gee," she said, "sometimes I wish ours were that size again. You never appreciate gifts like angworms until the children stop bringing them!"

I knew what she meant.

POSTCARD

Well, this morning I am in receipt of a communique from the Confrerie des Chevaliers du Tastevin.

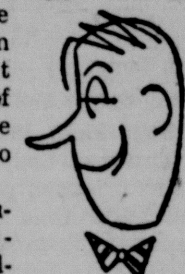

I am a Chevalier du Tastevin. Which is to say a wine-tasting Knight. Among my Knightly duties, I must pass on new members. For the Confrerie is made up of high class, polished palates. It is dedicated to the vintages of Burgundy and we are constantly on guard lest some guzzler of square face should slip into the ranks.

My communication concerns Mr. Walter Ramage, the Reno inn keeper and gambler. So immediately I must get on the long distance blower and investigate.

I am now ready to report to the Confrerie.

My dear confreres: You have asked me to look into the qualifications of Monsieur W. Ramage. I note that you wish to know about his "gastronomique particulars."

I will state that M. Ramage is well known from the Forty-Mile Desert to the Washoe Valley as a

A Correction

Lincoln, Nebr.

The Star regrets a typographical error which changed the sense of a significant paragraph in the letter, "Aylsworth Rebuttal," Monday, Dec. 27, giving levy history of the Lincoln schools to illustrate his criticism of school publicity in connection with Lincoln's proposed school bond issue.

In its correct form the Aylsworth letter stated:

"In 1953 came a still larger levy of 2.63 mills to raise $413,176, followed this year (1954) by the levy of 4.96 mills to raise $710,534, or a total of $1,387,760 in building fund taxes on top of the $6,000,000 to make a grand total of $7,387,760 in four years for school sites, construction and equipment. Is this likely to be repeated if the present proposed bond issue is approved?"

Remember The Others

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Never has there been a Christmas in which Christ was more present, in which Christ was more honored. Never has Christ's birthday been more nobly celebrated. Never, I think, can Christ have been more pleased with His people.

No Iron or Bamboo Curtain can shut out from the hearts of Christians the joy of Christmas. The Communists do not know it, but Communism is defeated. It doomed itself when it attacked the servants of God and was unable to frighten them. It can break bishops but it cannot pervert them to its purposes. Communism has crashed head-on into the grace of God and it will not be God's grace that will be smashed. Had the Communists read history, they would have learned that all the would-be conquerors of the past failed because they tried to wipe out Divine Truth.

As we pray during this season of Christmas, we should especially remember those whose souls are prisoners of the iron dogmas of atheistic materialism. They, above all others, are to be pitied.

The postulant is a man of good character. M. Eddie Questa, the Nevada banker, lends him money. And, believe me, Eddie is not laying any skins on bad characters.

The Confrerie might question M. Questa. M. Questa once parachuted out of an airplane on a $10 bet. This does not mean that M. Questa lacks judgment. He is a sport, that's all.

The postulant is also well spoken by Monsieur Bill Moffatt, the cattle man. I do not think any of these gentlemen are wine tasters particularly. This is mainly a whiskey-drinking country.

They drink whiskey with a splash of Truckee. I only mention it to show that the postulant is not backed by milk drinkers. Which I understand is causing a big rump in France these days.

Mr. Moffatt's cows are raised for steak. And if one of them gave milk he would be the most surprised man in Nevada.

I note that you say: "It is not enough for the postulant to love wine. He must give personal anecdote."

Former NU Coeds Are Brides

At a candlelight ceremony solemnized Monday evening, Dec. 27, Miss Kay Kinsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril W. Kinsey of Falls City, became the bride of Dale Lincoln Hanika, son of Mrs. Pearl Hanika, also of Falls City. White chrysanthemums and lighted candles appointed the chancel of the First Methodist Church in Falls City for the double ring service, which was read by the Rev. John E. Stalton.

As the matron of honor, Mrs. Russell Wallace of Auburn appeared in a frock of gold brocade and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and evergreen boughs. The bridesmaids, Miss Jean Ann Wilks of Scottsbluff and Miss Barbara Wiltse of Falls City, and the bridesmatron, Mrs. George Grossenbacher of Bern, Kans. Miss Wilma Jean Hahn of Falls City and Miss Rachel Foote of Hastings lighted the candles.

Imported white lace and tulle over satin was chosen by the bride for her period gown. A band of tulle accented with appliques of lace and sequins edged the bateau neckline and the molded lace bodice was designed with long, fitted sleeves. The lace motif was repeated in panels to trim the full skirt, which extended into a train, and her illusion veil was held by a tiara of Rose-point lace traced with pearls.

Vincent Hanika served as best man, and seating the guests were Gene Sailors, Lincoln, George Grossenbacher, Bern, Kan., Russell Wallace of Auburn and Dennis Sailors, Falls City. Following the reception for 200 guests at the church, the couple left for El Paso, Tex., where the bridegroom is stationed with the army. A graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, Mrs. Hanika has been a member of the Lincoln School faculty and will continue teaching at El Paso.

COOPER-BABCOCK
Miss Virginia Lee Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Cooper of Humboldt, became the bride of Joel Eugene Babcock, son of Mrs. Oma Babcock of Humboldt and Joe R. Babcock of Wilmington, N. C., at an afternoon service which took place Monday, Dec. 27, at St. Thomas Church, Episcopal, in Falls City. Clusters of tall, lighted candles, and arrangements of white chrysanthemums and evergreen boughs formed the chancel decor for the 3 o'clock ceremony which was solemnized by the Rev. William Cross.

Wearing alike frocks of brocade taffeta in the antique ivory shade were the maid of honor, Miss Barbara Dillman of Lincoln, and the bridesmaids, Miss Andrea Svoboda of Cozad and Miss Diane Downing of Superior. Their snug basques and full, ballerina skirts were accented by sashes of poinsettia red velvet, which also fashioned their tiny caps, and they carried arrangements of white pompons and holly leaves.

For her wedding, the bride wore a princess gown of ivory satin. Hand-fagoting touched the low, rounded neckline of the Empire bodice, and the sleeves were long and tapered to points over the hands. The circular skirt flared into extreme fullness and extended into a train, and her veil of silk illusion was held to the head by a bandeau of satin, petals edged with pearls. She carried a cascade of white chrysanthemums interspersed with holly.

Serving as best man was Guy L. Cooper III, and the corps of ushers included John R. Cooper, Jr., brother of the bride, David Williamson and Keith Leech, all of Humboldt.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the Stephenson Hotel in Falls City, and later in the day the couple left for a honeymoon trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania. They will reside at Nixon, N. J. where the bridegroom is stationed with the Army at Camp Kilmer.

A former student at Brownell Hall, Omaha, the bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Pi Beta Phi. Mr. Babcock is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law and is a member of Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity.

A July Bride-Elect

MISS VIRGINIA JEAN FRANKS

Mr. and Mrs. James Franks of Morrill are this morning making announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Jean, to Jackson B. Scofield, son of Mrs. Leland Scofield of Scottsbluff, and the late Mr. Scofield.

The wedding is planned for Sunday, July 3.

Miss Franks will be graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

Mr. Scofield is a graduate of the University of Colorado at Boulder, and is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

On Monday evening Mrs. Franks announced her daughter's betrothal to Mr. Scofield, at a bridge-dessert party at her home.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle B. Beavers announce the birth of a daughter, Joy Ellen, on Wednesday, Dec. 22, at Olney Hospital Mrs. Beavers is the former Joyce Hobbs, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Hobbs of Lincoln. The baby's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Beavers of Bennet.

A Bride On Monday

Cathedral candles in seven-branched holders, and frosted white Christmas trees appointed the chancel of the First Methodist Church in Geneva where the marriage of Miss Marymaude Bedford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Valentine Bedford of Geneva, to Howard Cooper Hanson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cooper Hanson of Herman, which took place on Monday afternoon, Dec. 27. Frosted fir boughs and lighted candles marked the processional aisle. The 4:30 o'clock double ring ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Frank Pfoutz, and the wedding music was played by Harriet Scott, organist who presented a prelude of organ numbers as the guests assembled.

Emerald green panne velvet was chosen for the costumes of the attendants who were Miss Barbara Ann Biba, the maid of honor; Miss Marilyn Rae Hamer, and Miss Virginia Ann Laun, the bridesmaids. The princess mode frocks were designed with deep portrait necklines contoured with triple folds of minute tucking, the back décolletage ornamented with velvet bows, and wide skirts that flared into ballerina length. Each wore a velvet bow in her hair and carried a bouquet of white tinselled carnations.

Howard Cooper Hanson served his son as best man, and seating the guests were Clinton John, Grand Island; George Tyson, Blair; Robert Eklund, Osceola, and Robert Bloomstrand, Aurora.

The Elizabethan influence was suggested in the bride's gown of heavy white satin. The long-sleeved sculptured bodice was fashioned with a portrait neckline, framed with an applique of Alencon lace and dotted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins, and the soft folds of the voluminous skirt swept into a cathedral train. A contour crown encrusted with seed pearls and sequins held to the head her fingertip veil of imported French illusion, and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with white orchids.

The bride will be graduated in February from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and of Pi Lambda Theta. Mr. Hanson is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

MRS. GEORGE A. SHAW

MRS. JOHN W. FORMAN

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. F. Schmidt of St. Joseph, Mo., formerly of Lincoln, and George A. Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Don Shaw of Lincoln, was solemnized Monday evening, Dec. 27, at the First English Evangelical Lutheran Church in St. Joseph. The 7 o'clock service was read by Dr. Reno R. Frobenius.

Wearing identical frocks of emerald green crystalite were Mrs. Terry Beale of Decatur, Ill., who was her twin sister's matron of honor, Miss Sara Jane Irvin, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Marie Bruns and Miss Dorothy Greve, all of Chicago. Bustle bows of green velvet accented their snug basques and full, ballerina-length skirts, and they completed their ensembles with caps of matching velvet. Their cascade bouquets were fashioned of white and crimson-necked carnations.

The bride appeared in a gown of ivory satin and imported Alencon lace. The long-sleeved bodice of lace over satin was designed with a heart-shaped neckline, and beneath the fitted waist, the satin skirt widened into extreme fullness and ended in a train. Seed pearls and iridescent sequins patterned the lace cap which held her veil of illusion, and she carried an ivory leather prayer book ornamented with a cluster of white camellias and sweetheart roses.

Midshipman Robert H. Schmidt of Annapolis, Md., brother of the bride, John S. Young of Houston, Tex., and Earl A. Comerford of Tekamah, all formerly of Lincoln.

Mr. Shaw and his bride will reside at Lawrence, Kan., where the bridegroom is studying for his M. A. degree in public administration. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Sigma Nu. A former student at St. Joseph, Mo., Junior College, Mrs. Shaw is a graduate of the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing in Chicago.

HUSTON-FORMAN

The chancel of the First Presbyterian Church at Bellevue was lighted by tall white candles, and appointed with pedestal arrangements of white chrysanthemums and frosted greens, for the marriage of Miss Betty Lu Huston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Huston of Lincoln, and John W. Forman, son of Mrs. G. O. Forman of Council Bluffs, Ia., which took place Sunday afternoon, Dec. 26. In the presence of 200 guests, the 3 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Dr. C. E. Brandsby of Council Bluffs.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. F. C. Howard of Bellevue appeared in a full-skirted frock of amethyst blue velvet fashioned in the daytime mode. Her cap was of matching velvet and she carried a nosegay of deep pink carnations. Wearing similar ensembles of velvet were Miss Emily Lou Howard, in Copenhagen blue, as the flower girl, and in azure blue, Miss Sue Ellen Howard and Miss Sally Ruth Howard, who lighted the candles. All are nieces of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of traditional ivory satin for her wedding. Crystal beading and tiny seed pearls embroidered in a floral motif accented the low, rounded neckline of the long-sleeved bodice, and the wide satin skirt was veiled with silk tulle which extended into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was held by a Juliet cap of satin and pearls, and she carried a bouquet of pale pink camellias.

Dr. Eugene Marsh of Council Bluffs served Mr. Forman as best man, and the ushers were Keith Leatherman of New York City and W. R. Sieck Jr., of Council Bluffs.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Howard, at Bellevue. Upon returning from a southern wedding trip, the couple will reside at Kansas City, Mo.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Towne Club and Mortar Board and where she served as editor of The Daily Nebraskan. For the past seven years, she has resided in New York where she was employed with a national firm as home economist. A graduate of the University of Omaha, Mr. Forman received his M.A. degree from the University of Iowa and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Kansas.

Cathedral candles in seven-branched holders, and frosted white Christmas trees appointed the chancel of the First Methodist Church in Geneva where the marriage of Miss Marymaude Bedford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Valentine Bedford of Geneva, to Howard Cooper Hanson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cooper Hanson of Herman, which took place on Monday afternoon, Dec. 27. Frosted fir boughs and lighted candles marked the processional aisle. The 4:30 o'clock double ring ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Frank Pfoutz, and the wedding music was played by Harriet Scott, organist who presented a prelude of organ numbers as the guests assembled.

Emerald green panne velvet was chosen for the costumes of the attendants who were Miss Barbara Ann Biba, the maid of honor; Miss Marilyn Rae Hamer, and Miss Virginia Ann Laun, the bridesmaids. The princess mode frocks were designed with deep portrait necklines contoured with triple folds of minute tucking, the back décolletage ornamented with velvet bows, and wide skirts that flared into ballerina length. Each wore a velvet bow in her hair and carried a bouquet of white tinselled carnations.

Howard Cooper Hanson served his son as best man, and seating the guests were Clinton John, Grand Island; George Tyson, Blair; Robert Eklund, Osceola, and Robert Bloomstrand, Aurora. The Elizabethan influence was suggested in the bride's gown of heavy white satin. The long-sleeved sculptured bodice was fashioned with a portrait neckline, framed with an applique of Alencon lace and dotted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins, and the soft folds of the voluminous skirt swept into a cathedral train. A contour crown encrusted with seed pearls and sequins veiled to the head her fingertip veil of imported French illusion, and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with white orchids.

Following the reception held in the church parlors, Mr. Hanson and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to New Orleans. For traveling Mrs. Hanson wore a cinnamon brown suit with velvet trim, and brown accessories.

The bride will be graduated in February from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and of Pi Lambda Theta. Mr. Hanson is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Following the game on New Year's Day, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson will hold open house for the members of the Nebraska team and the coaching staff.

MRS. DALE LINCOLN HANIKA

MRS. JOEL EUGENE BABCOCK

Former NU Coeds Are Brides

At a candlelight ceremony solemnized Monday evening, Dec. 27, Miss Kay Kinsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril W. Kinsey of Falls City, became the bride of Dale Lincoln Hanika, son of Mrs. Pearl Hanika, also of Falls City. White chrysanthemums and lighted candles appointed the chancel of the First Methodist Church in Falls City for the double ring service, which was read by the Rev. John E. Stayton.

As the matron of honor, Mrs. Russell Wallace of Auburn appeared in a frock of gold brocade and carried a bouquet of rhinestones and fashioned on princess lines. A rhinestone tiara completed her ensemble and she carried a cascade of Talisman roses. The bridegroom's sister, Miss Karleen Hanika of Falls City, in blue brocade and carrying pink roses, was the maid of honor, and frocked in pink brocade with bouquets of white carnations were the bridesmaids, Miss Jean Ann Wilks of Scottsbluff and Miss Barbara Wilts of Falls City, and the bridesmatron, Mrs. George Grossenbacher of Bern, Kans. Miss Wilma Jean Hahn of Falls City and Miss Rachel Foote of Hastings lighted the candles.

Imported white lace and tulle over satin was chosen by the bride for her period gown. A band of tulle accented with appliques of lace and sequins edged the bateau neckline and the molded lace bodice was designed with long, fitted sleeves. The lace motif was repeated in panels to trim the full skirt, which extended into a train, and her illusion veil was held by a tiara of Rose-point lace traced with pearls.

Vincent Hanika served as best man, and seating the guests were Gene Sailors, Lincoln, George Grossenbacher, Bern, Kan., Russell Wallace of Auburn and Dennis Sailors, Falls City.

Following the reception for 200 guests at the church, the couple left for El Paso, Tex., where the bridegroom is stationed with the army. A graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, Mrs. Hanika has been a member of the Lincoln School faculty and will continue teaching at El Paso.

COOPER-BABCOCK
Miss Virginia Lee Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Cooper of Humboldt, became the bride of Joel Eugene Babcock, son of Mrs. Oma Babcock of Humboldt and Joe R. Babcock of Wilmington, N. C., at an afternoon service which took place Monday, Dec. 27, at St. Thomas Church, Episcopal, in Falls City. Clusters of tall, lighted candles, and arrangements of white chrysanthemums and evergreen boughs formed the chancel decor for the 3 o'clock ceremony which was solemnized by the Rev. William Cross.

Wearing alike frocks of brocade taffeta in the antique ivory shade were the maid of honor, Miss Barbara Dillman of Lincoln, and the bridesmaids, Miss Andrea Svoboda of Cozad and Miss Diane Downing of Superior. Their snug basques and full, ballerina skirts were accented by sashes of poinsettia red velvet, which also fashioned their tiny caps, and they carried arrangements of white pompons and holly leaves.

For her wedding, the bride wore a princess gown of ivory satin. Hand-fagoting touched the low, rounded neckline of the Empire bodice, and the sleeves were long and tapered to points over the hands. The circular skirt flared into extreme fullness and extended into a train, and her veil of silk illusion was held to the head by a bandeau of satin petals edged with pearls. She carried a cascade of white chrysanthemums interspersed with holly.

Serving as best man was Guy L. Cooper III, and the corps of ushers included John R. Cooper Jr., brother of the bride, David Williamson and Keith Leech, all of Humboldt.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the Stephenson Hotel in Falls City, and later in the day the couple left for a honeymoon trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania. They will reside at Nixon, N. J. where the bridegroom is stationed with the Army at Camp Kilmer.

A former student at Brownell Hall, Omaha, the bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Pi Beta Phi. Mr. Babcock is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law and is a member of Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity.

MISS VIRGINIA JEAN FRANKS

Mr. and Mrs. James Franks of Morrill are this morning making announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Jean, to Jackson B. Scofield, son of Mrs. Leland Scofield of Scottsbluff, and the late Mr. Scofield.

The wedding is planned for Sunday, July 3.

Miss Franks will be graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

Mr. Scofield is a graduate of the University of Colorado at Boulder, and is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

On Monday evening Mrs. Franks announced her daughter's betrothal to Mr. Scofield, at a bridge-dessert party at her home.

Entertains At Holiday Tea

Miss Donna Jean Miller was hostess Sunday afternoon at a tea held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald D.

Miller, 3825 Dudley. The guest list of 40 included senior classmates of Miss Miller at Northeast High School.

Guest And Hostess

Arriving from Salt Lake City on Sunday to spend the remainder of the holidays as the guest of Miss Sissy Walker (right) was Miss Betty Waite. Miss Waite will be among the out of town guests at the Christmas Ball on Thursday evening at the Lincoln Country Club.

Particularly pleased with the guest—and with life in general—is Duke—who is in his favorite spot—the lap of his young mistress.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle B. Beavers announce the birth of a daughter, Joy Ellen, on Wednesday, Dec. 22, at Olney Hospital Mrs. Beavers is the former Joyce Hobbs, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Hobbs of Lincoln. The baby's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Beavers of Bennet.

MRS. GEORGE A. SHAW

MRS. JOHN W. FORMAN

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. F. Schmidt of St. Joseph, Mo., formerly of Lincoln, and George A. Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Don Shaw of Lincoln, was solemnized Monday evening, Dec. 27, at the First English Evangelical Lutheran Church in St. Joseph. The 7 o'clock service was read by Dr. Reno R. Frobenius.

Wearing identical frocks of emerald green crystalettes were Mrs. Terry Beale of Decatur, Ill., who was her twin sister's matron of honor, Miss Sara Jane Irwin, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Marie Bruns and Miss Dorothy Greve, all of Chicago. Bustle bows of green velvet accented their snug basques and full, ballerina-length skirts, and they completed their ensembles with caps of matching velvet. Their cascade bouquets were fashioned of white and crimson-flecked carnations.

The bride appeared in a gown of ivory satin and imported Alencon lace. The long-sleeved bodice of lace over satin was designed with a heart-shaped neckline, and beneath the fitted waist, the satin skirt widened into extreme fullness and ended in a train. Seed pearls and iridescent sequins patterned the lace cap which held her veil of illusion, and she carried an ivory leather prayer book ornamented with a cluster of white camellias and sweetheart roses.

Dr. R. Roderic Abbott of Buffalo, N. Y., served as best man, and seating the guests were Midshipman Robert H. Schmidt of Annapolis, Md., brother of the bride, John S. Young of Houston, Tex., and Earl A. Comerford of Tekamah, all formerly of Lincoln. Mr. Shaw and his bride will reside at Lawrence, Kan., where the bridegroom is studying for his M. A. degree in public administration. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Sigma Nu. A former student at St. Joseph, Mo., Junior College, Mrs. Shaw is a graduate of the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing in Chicago.

HUSTON-FORMAN
The chancel of the First Presbyterian Church at Bellevue was lighted by tall white candles, and appointed with pedestal arrangements of white chrysanthemums and frosted greens, for the marriage of Miss Betty Lu Huston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Huston of Lincoln, and John W. Forman, son of Mrs. G. O. Forman of Council Bluffs, Ia., which took place Sunday afternoon, Dec. 26. In the presence of 200 guests, the 3 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Dr. C. C. Bransby of Council Bluffs. As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. F. C. Howard of Bellevue appeared in a full-skirted frock of amethyst blue velvet and carried a bouquet of matching velvet and she carried a nosegay of deep pink carnations. Wearing similar ensembles of velvet were Miss Emily Lou Howard, in Copenhagen blue, as the flower girl, and in azure blue, Miss Suellen Howard and Miss Sally Ruth Howard, who lighted the candles. All are nieces of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of traditional ivory satin for her wedding. Crystal beading and tiny seed pearls embroidered in a floral motif accented the long-sleeved bodice, and the wide satin skirt was veiled with silk tulle which extended into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was held by a Juliet cap of satin and pearls, and she carried a bouquet of pale pink camellias.

Dr. Eugene Marsh of Council Bluffs served Mr. Forman as best man, and the ushers were Keith Leatherman of New York City and W. R. Sieck Jr., of Council Bluffs.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Howard, at Bellevue. Upon returning from a southern wedding trip, the couple will reside at Kansas City, Mo.

AMBASSADOR SAYS:

'Midwesterners Should Pay Attention To Canadians'

OMAHA (AP)—R. Douglas Stuart, United States Ambassador to Canada, said here Monday that midwesterners would do well to pay attention to their northern neighbors.

Stuart is spending the holidays with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha.

"Canada is more nearly tied to our free enterprise system of economy than any other nation in the world," Stuart said.

"Official relationships between United States and Canada are about as good as can be," he said.

"We are very closely integrated, defensively and economically."

But many Americans, and especially midwesterners, don't appreciate the value of the two-way trade between the two countries, the ambassador said.

"We are pre-occupied with Europe and Latin America," he declared, adding that the 15 million Canadians buy and sell more to the United States than all the people of Latin America, or Continental Europe.

That excludes the arms trade, which Ambassador Stuart described as "a giveaway, not trade."

Mayor Of The Town

Ex-Grocer Guides Seward Progress

By DICK SIMONSON

Star Staff Writer

(Editor's Note: About the most important single individual as far as community growth goes is the mayor of the town. The Star has interviewed some of these Nebraska mayors and today is presenting the first in a series.)

SEWARD, Neb. — This county seat town on the Blue River is progressing steadily under the guidance of a modest ex-grocer who is now the mayor.

H. P. "Doc" Rouselle ran for office in May because, as he sees it, "Every man owes it to his community to serve in some capacity."

Discounting his part in the forward movement made by the town of 3,300, Rouselle says he's trying to "keep the town 'on the go' to survive." This referred to threats rendered by larger neighboring cities of York, Grand Island, and Lincoln.

Examples of recent civic improvement:

In the past two years, 120 blocks of streets have been paved.

Fluorescent lights—74 of them—have been installed in the downtown area at a cost of $43,000. Similar lighting for four more blocks is in the planning stage.

Schuyler is the only other town in the state having this type lights, said the mayor.

A new dike built jointly by Hughes Brothers, Inc., a local firm, and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers protects Seward from flood threats of the Big Blue.

Any credit due for these projects goes unclaimed by Rouselle—"I couldn't do a thing if it weren't for the swell council that's serving now. They're a fine bunch of men."

Serving on the council are H. G. Weller, Herman J. Klute, Edward L. Gleisburg, Willard Miers, Victor Hildebrand, and Paul N. Hafmeister.

Gives Credit

Two others coming in for a large share of the credit according to Rouselle, are City Clerk Carl McGrew and City Attorney Paul H. Bek.

The new community bright spot—a $126,000 civic building—will be completed soon. The most unique thing about it is that none of the expenses incurred in construction will fall on the citizens.

The building—rather funds for its construction and upkeep—were donated to the city by the late Mrs. William Langworthy, an early Seward settler.

Lot More To Do

Impressed by this record? Nope, there's still a lot more to do, says Rouselle.

"His Honor" was born on a farm in Seward County in 1904. His family moved to town during his youth, and he acquired the small grocery in 1938.

The store has now been leased to his son and son-in-law, while Rouselle devotes his time to the city hall job.

Both his children are married. When World War II brought on a shortage of teachers, Rouselle acted as assistant football coach at Seward High. "I got a real kick out of that," he recalls.

As to the future and what he intends to do after his term of office, the mayor remains mum.

"I've got some plans, but I can't say definitely just what they are at this time."

It's a cliche that Seward's citizens—whatever course Rouselle takes—will be grateful for his philosophy of "every man's" debt to the community.

Nebraska GI's Greet Sen. Abel

BERLIN (AP)—Sen. Hazel H. Abel (R-Neb) Monday visited U.S. troops stationed in Berlin and was greeted by 13 who also call Nebraska home.

The visit to 6th Infantry Headquarters was the first item on a schedule which was to take her to refugee camps late Monday, and to the Soviet sector of Berlin Tuesday.

Mrs. Abel, accompanied by her daughter, Alice, arrived here Sunday night for a two-day visit.

The Nebraska soldiers who greeted her Monday:

Maj. Francis A. Olig, Omaha; 1st Lt. Frank A. Mullens, Omaha; Pfc. Ralph A. Abbot, Nebraska City; Pvt. Ralph E. Beebe Jr., Omaha; Cpl. Thomas R. Bruce, Omaha; Pfc. Robert L. Ford, Rt. 1, Lyman; Cpl. Emmenigildo Hernandez, Mitchell; Cpl. Gilbert W. Lauritsen, Dannebrog; Cpl. Raymond C. Lenners, Filley; Pfc. Wilfred Schleifer, Crofton; Pvt. Jack E. Sommers, 744 Charleston St., Lincoln; Pvt. Harold D. Stewart, Powell; Pfc. Aldon Westover, Gordon.

Dr. D. E. Maxwell Dies At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—Dr. D. E. Maxwell, 71, prominent Columbus dentist, died at a hospital Sunday afternoon following a heart attack.

Dr. Maxwell, active in civic affairs, had practiced here 28 years. Each year he sponsored an appreciation dinner for Columbus firemen, and at the time of his death he was active in promotion of an annual Christmas decoration project for the Columbus City Park.

Funeral services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. Dr. Paul Hillman officiating. Surviving are his widow and a daughter, Helen, of Columbus.

Paper's History Spans Generation

NORFOLK, Neb. — Two Norfolk families took special interest in the 25th anniversary of the Junior High School newspaper, "Our Talkie."

Mrs. Homer Faubel, the former Carolyn Behr, was school activities editor on the first staff. Her daughter, Pat, drew the cover for the anniversary addition.

Bill Fleming, one of the present business managers, is the son of the 1929 sports editor, Morris Fleming.

The former Margaret E. Unthank, now Mrs. Albert Kendall of Norfolk, was sponsor of the first, "Our Talkie."

Rain, Snow And Cold

The Eastern U.S. can expect precipitation Tuesday from the Mississippi Valley east to the Atlantic Coast except for coastal section from southern New England to North Carolina. It will rain in the southern states and middle and lower Mississippi and Tennessee Valleys. Snow is slated for the upper Mississippi Valley and Northern Maine with rain slated from Vermont and New Hampshire to the Ohio Valley. It will be mixed with snow in northern New York. Generally fair weather is forecast for the west with some precipitation in the Northwest Pacific. It will be colder over most of the nation. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

U.S. Net Team Cops Davis Cup

By WILL GRIMSLEY
SYDNEY, Australia (Tuesday)
After four years of bitter frustration, the United States won back the Davis Cup on this clear, mild day, a half a world from home, when Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas defeated Australia's Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 10-8 in the doubles match of the challenge round.

The victory gave the Yanks an insurmountable 3-0 lead in the best-of-five event and makes tomorrow's final two singles matches mere formalities.

Thus the ancient mug, the coveted symbol of world amateur tennis supremacy, will journey back to the United States after nestling here in the Land Down Under since 1950, the year the Frank Sedgman-Ken McGregor duo began to cut a swath through the tennis world.

Dwarfed Aussies
Seixas and Trabert were virtual monsters of the court the past two days, and they completely dwarfed the effort of Hoad and Rosewall, the same two youngsters who licked them by a narrow 3-2 margin last year.

A great throng of 25,578—taking up every seat in White City Stadium—watched the match and let loose a great cheer for Seixas and Trabert when the final point was safely put away. The two Americans and their captain, Billy Talbot, were almost beside themselves with happiness as they danced off the court.

After the opening two singles victories Sunday there was hardly a soul in all Australia, with the possible exception of Captain Harry Hopman, who thought the home-grown lads had a chance. Trabert and Seixas constitute the most fearsome doubles combination in the world and they played like it.

Seixas, Trabert Confident
So confident were Seixas and Trabert that they only occasionally reverted to their patented criss-cross strategy which won them the doubles last year. In it, the man at the net, on signal, may cross the court for a volley.

Hard At 'Work' In Winter Wonderland

By Don BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

MIAMI, Fla.—Both Nebraska and Duke football players complained about the warm sunshine Monday as the teams went through their first Miami workouts for the Orange Bowl football game.

And unless Duke shows considerable improvement in its practice drills Tuesday the Blue Devils may be forced to work twice daily until the game, Coach Bill Murray announced after putting his squad through two listless sessions at the University of Miami athletic field. "Our squad looked very sluggish," explained Murray. "There wasn't much difference in our two workouts. They looked just as bad this afternoon as they did this morning."

78 Degrees
While Murray said the 78-degree temperature suited him fine, Coach Bill Glassford from cold Nebraska took a different view. He complained that "this heat will bother us."

In Monday's drills Glassford concentrated on defensive patterns he hopes will stymie Duke's passing attack. The Duke team was concerned mostly with the running game of the bigger Nebraska club. Murray said he didn't know whether the sluggishness was due to the eight-day layoff (the Blue Devils haven't practiced since a week ago Sunday) or the temperature.

"If we didn't find out anything else today we found out what this climate is like," he said. Asked if he thought the temperature was responsible for the squad's listless showing Murray replied, "Let's hope that's all it is."

Passing, Running
The Blue Devils stressed passing and running in their morning and afternoon workouts Monday. Murray worked the squad 90 minutes during the morning session. After lunch the players walked around for a few minutes and then rushed back to the practice field for the long afternoon drill.

Murray will decide Tuesday afternoon whether or not the Blue Devils will limit their training to a single workout.

Most of Monday afternoon's work was devoted to defense. The red-jerseyed second team ran Nebraska's plays against the Blue Devils starting team.

Same Lineup
Unless there are some unforeseen developments during practice drills this week Murray said his lineup will remain the same.

That means that Sonny Sorrell and Tracy Moon will be at the ends, Fred Campbell and Doug Knotts at tackles, Jesse Birchfield and Ralph Torrance at guards and Johnny Palmer at center.

In the backfield it will be Captain Jerry Barger at the signal caller's post, with Bob Pascal and Buddy Bass at the halves and hard-charging Bryant Aldridge at fullback.

High As A Kite—Then Tailspin
Nebraska ranked 11th in the nation in rushing with a net gain of 2,657 yards in 10 games, although the Cornhuskers suffered four defeats. Their last loss was by a 35-7 score to Oklahoma's Big Seven champions.

Nebraska won second place in the Big Seven and received the Orange Bowl berth because Oklahoma was barred by a conference rule against consecutive post-season games. The Orange Bowl has a contract with the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast loops to furnish the teams for its games.

"We were high as a kite," Glassford said when he was asked to explain the beating by Oklahoma. "We played them even the first half. Then we got a couple of tough breaks and the roof caved in."

Hatching up some new plays to throw against Duke, Glassford had visitors to the Nebraska practice field carefully screened.

Although he spent most of the day on passing and pass defense, Glassford said "We're not just worried about passes. That Duke line is quick, agile and tough. We hope to be ready for anything they do."

Two grilling practice sessions left the Huskers tired, somewhat groggy and ready for bed.

A few grumbles were heard about the hard work in the hot sun, but for the most part the players took it in their stride, realizing that Saturday's Orange Bowl game with Duke will be played in the hot sun and the best way to get ready for it is to take some punishment now.

The one sour note of the day came in the afternoon, when it became evident that Ron Clark's injured ankle was not as strong as believed earlier.

Ankle Folds
In the morning, Ron ran well but he was forced to quit in the afternoon after a few minutes when his ankle gave out. However, he still may be able for duty against Duke.

Glassford is confronted with several lineup switches and the most prominent is the No. 1 backfield.

Cornhuskers Work, Too

Mizzou Sizzles In Second Half To Fry Nebraska, 75-58

By SKIPPER PATRICK
Missouri's Tigers started slowly then warmed up to a 75-58 victory over the Nebraska Cornhuskers in the second first-round game of the Big Seven Basketball Tournament before an estimated 8,000 fans Monday night.

In the opening game of the doubleheader Jimmy Peck's field goal with three seconds remaining in an overtime session gave Oklahoma its first victory of the season 73-71 over the Colorado Buffaloes.

Nebraska made it a close game until the closing minutes of the first half when Norm Stewart and Med Park found the range repeatedly to put Missouri ahead 35-29 at intermission.

Stewart scored 10 field goals and six free throws for 26 points and individual honors. Missouri's Bob Reiter and Park chipped in 13 each and guard Lionel Smith had 11.

Gary Renzelman had 19 points for the Cornhuskers. Missouri had a shooting average of 32.9 per cent, making 25 of its 76 shots. Nebraska scored 16 of 51 for 31.4 per cent.

The Tigers, who scored their fifth victory in seven starts, made 25 of a possible 33 free throws. Nebraska counted 18 and missed 14.

The first round will be completed tonight with Kansas meeting Iowa State and Kansas State playing the guest California Bears. The Oklahoma-Coloardo game got the tournament off to a roaring start.

It was one of the most spirited opening games in nine years of tournament. Oklahoma, gaining its first victory in five games this season, sent the contest into overtime with a 3-minute stall that left the score deadlocked at 68-68.

Colorado had a 37-35 halftime lead but was unable to shut off the deadly shooting of Lester Lane who garnered 31 points for the Sooners.

Lane's long jump shot in the early seconds of the overtime put Oklahoma ahead and the Sooners stayed in front although they blew two free throws that could have made it easier for them.

TCU Advances To 2nd Round
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Field goals by Ray Warren and Bill Estill in the last 90 seconds gave Texas Christian a 74-71 victory over Southern Methodist Monday night to complete the opening round of the fourth annual Southwest Conference Basketball Tournament.

Arkansas's Razorbacks earlier had used a thrilling second-half comeback to defeat defending tournament champion Rice 73-66.

Two afternoon games that were settled in the final minutes saw Alabama, the guest team, turn back Baylor 70-67 and Texas A&M upset the University of Texas 66-61.

Today's semifinals match Arkansas against Alabama at 7:30 p.m. CST and Texas Christian against A&M at 9 p.m.

Consolation pairings place Rice against Baylor at 2 p.m. and Southern Methodist against Texas at 4 p.m.

TCU held a brief 9-point lead in the first half against SMU, but the Mustangs, playing without their injured captain, guard Art Barnes, came back strong in the second half.

The lead changed hands eight times in the final 20 minutes and the game was tied five times, the last at 70-70 with 3 1/2 minutes to play.

Except for the opening minutes, Arkansas trailed Rice by as much as 13 points until a 10-point surge by Scroggins in the second half put the Porks within striking distance at 51-55.

Kearney, Hastings Win Opening Games In Grand Island Tourney

Lincoln Star Special
GRAND ISLAND—Kearney College battled from behind in an overtime Monday night to slip past Chadron State 74-72 and enter tonight's finals of the Grand Island Invitational Tournament against defending champion Hastings.

Hastings, led by high-scoring Chuck Stickels, broke away from Doane in the third quarter and defeated the Tigers 69-48 in the opening round game of the annual tournament of picked Nebraska College Conference basketball teams.

Kearney and Hastings will clash for the title at 9 p.m. Tuesday night following a 7 p.m. consolation game between Doane and Chadron.

Senior Dave Mills from North Platte won the opener for Kearney when he connected on a long set shot at 3:15 of the five-minute overtime to give the Antelopes a 73-72 lead. Darrel Lloyd got a free throw a moment later and Chuck Lovelace of Chadron missed two gift shots in the last minute of the final Eagle bid.

Chadron led at the half 39-36. The regulation game ended at 69-69 and the Eagles went ahead 72-69 in the overtime only to be overtaken by a tip-in by John Rowland of Kearney and Mills' long shot.

Haloween's Surge Wins Regal Steeplechase

LONDON (AP)—Holoween, a 9-year-old jumper, went into the lead over the last fence and won the three mile King George VI steeplechase at Kempton Park Monday by six lengths. The race is one of the features of the holiday season in England.

Jockey Fred Winter kept Holoween at the rear of the eight-horse field but came on with a strong finish in the stretch to win first money of $5,958.

Dayton, Duquesne Move Up In Holiday Festival

By ED WILKS
NEW YORK (AP)—Duquesne's Si Green went off on a wild scoring rampage that carried the Dukes to an 87-68 victory over previously unbeaten Villanova, and unbeaten Dayton packed away its eighth victory by disposing of St. John's of Brooklyn 70-55 Monday night to wrap up the first round of the annual ECAC Basketball Festival at Madison Square Garden.

Green's 30-point spree in the second half—eclipsing the 29-point college record set at the Garden by Harry Boykoff of St. John's in 1947—turned a close ball game into a rout and set up a second-round meeting between once-beaten Duquesne and Dayton.

That game will be the nightcap of the evening twinbill when play resumes Wednesday. The evening opener will feature LaSalle and UCLA, who won in Monday's afternoon doubleheader. LaSalle toyed with Syracuse 103-54 after UCLA staged a magnificent second-half comeback on the sharp-shooting of Morris Taft to defeat Niagara 88-86.

Dayton seemed somewhat perplexed by St. John's play as the Redmen proved more fistic than fierce. St. John's plan appeared based on an attempt to wear down the Flyers in heavy contact and it became more than obvious when Pete Carroll, a 250-pounder, was sent in to rub elbows with Bill Uhl, Dayton's 7-foot pivot.

That was a last resort by the Redmen, however. Earlier they tried merely to tie up the big fellow. That succeeded for a while, but then the Flyers started hitting from outside and brought the St. John's defense out again.

Green, who had only eight points in the first half, broke loose early as the second half started and the Dukes came right along with him. Duquesne had a 38-37 lead at the half, but after five minutes of the second half Villanova was already out of the game.

Green wound up as the night's high-scorer with 38 points and his second half total broke the all-time Garden college scoring record of 29 points for one half, set by Harry Boykoff of St. John's against St. Francis in 1947.

It was a terrific comeback all the way for the Bruins, who lost Taft, center Willie Naulls and forward Don Bragg—all members of the team.

Players from the four cities arrived Monday and were greeted with a pep rally. They set up operations at Tiger Town, spring training quarters for the Detroit baseball Tigers.

The winners of tonight's games meet Wednesday for the championship. The losers play for the consolation title.

LINCOLN GRID SQUAD, PHILLY MIX TONIGHT

LAKELAND, Fla.—Lincoln's Midget football representative in the Santa Claus Bowl meets Philadelphia tonight as the two-day event opens with a double header.

Houston and Atlanta meet in the first game and in the nightcap coach Chuck Worrall's all-league Jaycee club goes after the team from the largest city in the bowl.

The High And The Mighty

A good New Year's resolution for basketball fans would be a promise to take it easy on those players who have the misfortune to be much taller than their fellow men.

Extreme height isn't generally considered a disadvantage in basketball. Altitude, and ample altitude, are regarded as necessary in today's game. But the advantage is always to the team and not always to the player.

Sometimes it's a misfortune to be taller than 6 feet 4 inches. A player over that height has these crosses to bear:

1. He's called a "goon" in a manner almost always unkind.

2. If he has a bad night the fans and the opposition razz him unmercifully.

3. If he has a good night, everybody says "so what?"

Is addition, that added height usually carries with it a lack of maneuverability which makes it easy to foul.

Often taller players don't have the weight to battle a shorter stockier player under the boards.

There is a tendency to think of a big man as "not good, just big."

But many big men are both good and big.

Don Boldebeck of Lincoln, now the wheelhorse for Houston's tough aggregation, is an example.

Don didn't play basketball in high school and when he started as a freshman at Wesleyan, they said he was "just big." He was tabbed a "basket-hanger" who couldn't do anything but out-reach his opponents. When he went on a scoring spree, fans were inclined to say he wouldn't be much if he were, say, six feet tall.

Bolde has moved to a tougher league now and is making headlines nationally. A little polish turned Don into an effective center.

When Bill Johnson (6-7) was at Teachers High and the University of Nebraska, fans were inclined to be critical of the big guy whenever he didn't burn up the nets. When he did, some said he was "just big."

He's with the Peoria Caterpillars now in a league where he is not any taller than his teammates and opponents. Coach Warren Womble tabs him as his best forward prospect in years.

Lincoln high schools have turned out two exceptionally tall players in the past two years—Jim Thom of Teachers and Allen Graves, in his last year at Lincoln High.

Thom and Graves were the subject of barbs from the fans when they made mistakes as sophomores and juniors. Again, it was "not good, just big."

Thom worked hard to develop a good assortment of close shots and to keep from overreaching. He got so good at the latter skill that he didn't foul out in his senior year until the last minutes of the last game in the state tournament. Right now he's one of the top players on a Nebraska freshman squad which has other players almost as tall as Jim.

Graves also put in many hours working on rebounding, tip-ins and shots. He now has as soft a touch as most small players who specialize in the long set-shot. He has a pretty fair hook shot, too.

Maybe it's not too far-fetched to think some of those super-tall players have talent.

U.S. Net Team Cops Davis Cup

By WILL GRIMSLEY
SYDNEY, Australia (Tuesday)
After four years of bitter frustration, the United States won back the Davis Cup on this clear, mild day, a half a world from home, when Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas defeated Australia's Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 10-8 in the doubles match of the challenge round.

The victory gave the Yanks an insurmountable 3-0 lead in the best-of-five event and makes tomorrow's final two singles matches mere formalities.

Thus the ancient mug, the coveted symbol of world amateur tennis supremacy, will journey back to the United States after nestling here in the Land Down Under since 1950, the year the Frank Sedgman-Ken McGregor duo began to cut a swath through the tennis world.

Dwarfed Aussies
Seixas and Trabert were virtual monsters of the court the past two days, and they completely dwarfed the effort of Hoad and Rosewall, the same two youngsters who licked them by a narrow 3-2 margin last year.

A great throng of 25,578—taking up every seat in White City Stadium—watched the match and let loose a great cheer for Seixas and Trabert when the final point was safely put away. The two Americans and their captain, Billy Talbert, were almost beside themselves with happiness as they danced off the court.

After the opening two singles victories Sunday there was hardly a soul in all Australia, with the possible exception of Captain Harry Hopman, who thought the home-grown lads had a chance. Trabert and Seixas constitute the most fearsome doubles combination in the world and they played like it.

Seixas, Trabert Confident
So confident were Seixas and Trabert that they only occasionally reverted to their patented criss-cross strategy which won them the doubles last year. In it, the man at the net, on signal, may cross the court for a volley.

A good New Year's resolution for basketball fans would be a promise to take it easy on those players who have the misfortune to be much taller than their fellow men.

Hard At 'Work' In Winter Wonderland

While citizens in Lincoln suffered in blustery weather, Nebraska football players in Miami were struggling to get ready for the Jan. 1 Orange Bowl game. In picture at left, three Huskers are getting golf tips from three Floridians at the Flamingo Hotel.

Mizzou Sizzles In Second Half To Fry Nebraska, 75-58

By SKIPPER PATRICK
Missouri's Tigers started slowly then warmed up to a 75-58 victory over the Nebraska Cornhuskers in the second first-round game of the Big Seven Basketball Tournament before an estimated 8,000 fans Monday night.

Nebraska made it a close game until the closing minutes of the first half when Norm Stewart and Fred Park found the range repeatedly to put Missouri ahead 35-29 at intermission.

In the opening game of the doubleheader Jimmy Peck's field goal with three seconds remaining in an overtime session gave Oklahoma its first victory of the season 73-71 over the Colorado Buffaloes.

Kearney, Hastings Win Opening Games In Grand Island Tourney

Lincoln Star Special
GRAND ISLAND—Kearney College battled from behind in an overtime Monday night to slip past Chadron State 74-72 and enter tonight's finals of the Grand Island Invitational Tournament against defending champion Hastings.

Hastings, led by high-scoring Chuck Stickels, broke away from Doane in the third quarter and defeated the Tigers 69-48 in the opening round game of the annual tournament of picked Nebraska College Conference basketball teams.

Kearney and Hastings will clash for the title at 9 p.m. Tuesday night following a 7 p.m. consolation game between Doane and Chadron.

Senior Dave Mills from North Platte won the opener for Kearney when he connected on a long set shot at 3:15 of the five-minute overtime to give the Antelopes a 73-72 lead. Darrel Lloyd got a free throw a moment later and Chuck Lovelace of Chadron missed two gift shots in the last minute of the final Eagle bid.

Chadron led at the half 39-36. The regulation game ended at 69-48 and the Eagles went ahead 72-69 in the overtime only to be overtaken by a tip-in by John Rowland of Kearney and Mills' long shot.

Freshman Ron Gray of Hebron kept Doane in the game against heavily-favored Kearney until the Broncos exploded late in the third quarter and broke up the fight.

Favored Duke Looks Sluggish; N.U. Polishes Pass Defenses

By Don BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

MIAMI, Fla.—Both Nebraska and Duke football players complained about the warm sunshine Monday as the teams went through their first Miami workouts for the Orange Bowl football game.

And unless Duke shows considerable improvement in its practice drills Tuesday the Blue Devils may be forced to work twice daily until the game, Coach Bill Murray announced after putting his squad through two listless sessions at the University of Miami athletic field. "Our squad looked very sluggish," explained Murray. "There wasn't much difference in our two workouts. They looked just as bad this afternoon as they did this morning."

78 Degrees

While Murray said the 78-degree temperature suited him fine, Coach Bill Glassford from cold Nebraska took a different view. He complained that "this heat will bother us."

In Monday's drills Glassford concentrated on defensive patterns he hopes will stymie Duke's passing attack. The Duke team was concerned mostly with the running game of the bigger Nebraska club.

Murray said he didn't know whether the sluggishness was due to the eight-day layoff (the Blue Devils haven't practiced since a week ago Sunday) or the temperature.

"If we didn't find out anything else today we would want what this climate is like," he said. Asked if he thought the temperature was responsible for the squad's listless showing Murray replied, "Let's hope that's all it is."

Passing, Running

The Blue Devils stressed passing and running in their morning and afternoon workouts Monday. Murray worked the squad 90 minutes during the morning session. After lunch the players walked around for a few minutes and then rushed back to the practice field for the long afternoon drill.

Murray will decide Tuesday afternoon whether or not the Blue Devils will limit their training to a single workout.

Most of Monday afternoon's work was devoted to defense. The red-jerseyed second team ran Nebraska's plays against the Blue Devils starting team.

Same Lineup

Unless there are some unforeseen developments during practice drills this week Murray said his lineup will remain the same.

That means that Sonny Sorrell and Tracy Moon will be at the ends, Fred Campbell and Doug Knotts at tackles, Jesse Birchfield and Ralph Torrance at guards and Johnny Palmer at center.

In the backfield it will be Captain Jerry Barger at the signal caller's post, with Bob Pascal and Buddy Bass at the halves and hard-charging Bryant Aldridge at full-back.

High As A Kite—Then Tailspin

Nebraska ranked 11th in the nation in rushing with a net gain of 2,657 yards in 10 games, although the Cornhuskers suffered four defeats. Their last loss was by a 55-7 score to Oklahoma's Big Seven champions.

Nebraska won second place in the Big Seven and received the Orange Bowl berth because Oklahoma was barred by a conference rule against consecutive post-season games. The Orange Bowl has a contract with the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast loops to furnish the teams for its games.

"We were high as a kite," Glassford said when he was asked to explain the beating by Oklahoma. "We played them even the first half. Then we got a couple of tough breaks and the roof caved in."

"Ready for Anything."

Hatching up some new plays to throw against Duke, Glassford had visitors to the Nebraska practice field carefully screened.

Although he spent most of the day on passing and pass defense, Glassford said "We're not just worried about passes. That Duke line is quick, agile and tough. We hope to be ready for anything they do."

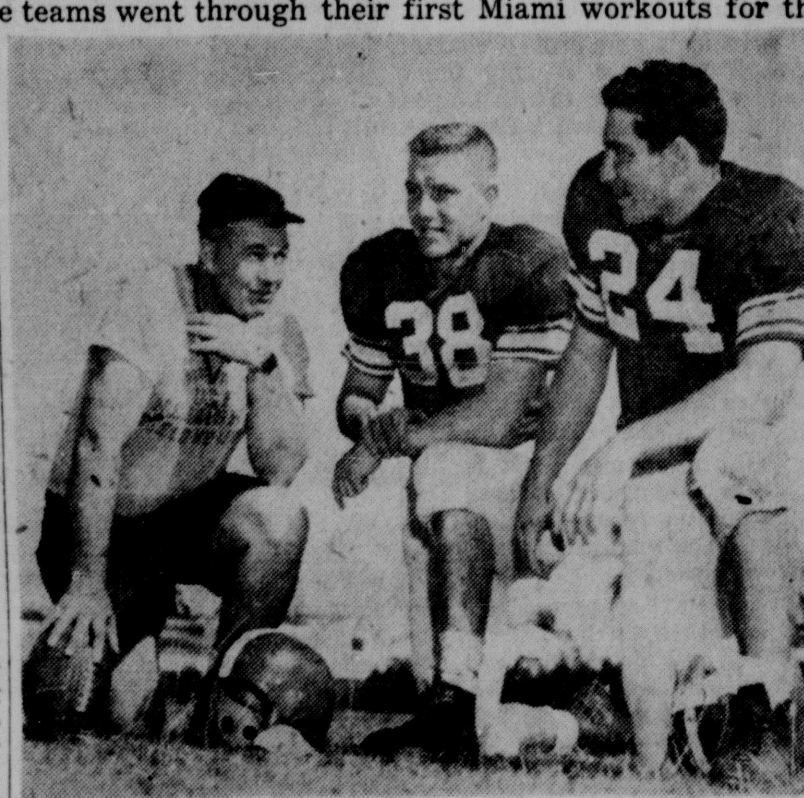

Two grilling practice sessions left the Huskers tired, somewhat groggy and ready for bed.

A few grumbles were heard about the hard work in the hot sun, but for the most part the players took it in their stride, realizing that Saturday's Orange Bowl game with Duke will be played in the hot sun and the best way to get ready for it is to take some punishment now.

The one sour note of the day came in the afternoon, when it became evident that Ron Clark's injured ankle was not as strong as believed earlier.

Ankle Folds
In the morning, Ron ran well but he was forced to quit in the afternoon after a few minutes when his ankle gave out. However, he still may be able for duty against Duke.

Glassford is confronted with several lineup switches and the most prominent is the No. 1 backfield.

Dayton, Duquesne Move Up In Holiday Festival

By ED WILKS

NEW YORK (AP)—Duquesne's St. Green went off on a wild scoring rampage that carried the Dukes to an 87-68 victory over previously unbeaten Villanova, and unbeaten Dayton packed away its eighth victory by disposing of St. John's of Brooklyn 70-55 Monday night to wrap up the first round of the annual ECAC Basketball Festival at Madison Square Garden.

Green's 30-point spree in the second half—eclipsing the 29-point college record set at the Garden by Harry Boykoff of St. John's in 1947—turned a close ball game into a rout and set up a second-round meeting between once-beaten Duquesne and Dayton.

That game will be the nightcap of the evening twill when play resumes Wednesday. The evening opener will feature LaSalle and UCLA, who won in Monday's afternoon doubleheader. LaSalle toyed with Syracuse 103-54 after UCLA staged a magnificent second-half comeback on the sharp-shooting of Morris Taft to defeat Niagara 88-86.

Dayton seemed somewhat perplexed by St. John's play as the Redmen proved more fistic than fierce. St. John's plan appeared based on an attempt to wear down the Flyers in heavy contact and it became more than obvious when Pete Carroll, a 250-pounder, was sent in to rub elbows with Bill Uhl, Dayton's 7-foot pivot.

That was a last resort by the Redmen, however. Earlier they tried merely to tie up the big fellow. That succeeded for a while, but then the Flyers started hitting from outside and brought the St. John's defense out again.

Green, who had only eight points in the first half, broke loose early as the second half started and the Dukes came right along with him. Duquesne had a 38-37 lead at the half, but after five minutes of the second half Villanova was already out of the game.

Green wound up as the night's high-scorer with 38 points and his second half total broke the all-time Garden college scoring record of 29 points for one half, set by Harry Boykoff of St. John's against St. Francis in 1947.

It was a terrific comeback all the way for the Bruins, who lost Taft, center Willie Nauls and forward Don Bragg—all members of the starting five—on fouls while coming ahead with the last half rally.

Niagara, beaten only by one point in overtime by LaSalle previously, had grabbed the lead midway in the first period and moved out to a 42-34 advantage at the half. A quick opening rush in the second half ballooned that lead to 14 points, 50-36, before Taft went to work.

The 6-3 guard, kicking up his heels in a two-handed jump shot, twice brought UCLA to within one point of the Eagles only to have Niagara slip away. Finally, at 10:53 of the period Taft got his eighth and final field goal of the second half to make it UCLA 73-71.

Taft Leads Way, Scoring
Niagara came back to tie 73-73 but forward Johnny Moore tipped in a rebound and the Uclans were out in the lead for good.

LINCOLN GRID SQUAD, PHILLY MIX TONIGHT

LAKELAND, Fla.—Lincoln's Midget football representative in the Santa Claus Bowl meets Philadelphia tonight as the two-day event opens with a double header.

Houston and Atlanta meet in the first game and in the night-cap coach Chuck Worrall's all-league Jaycee club goes after the team from the largest city in the bowl.

Worrall has planned to start the following combination:

Players from the four cities arrived Monday and were greeted with a pep rally. They set up operations at Tiger Town, spring training quarters for the Detroit baseball Tigers.

The winners of tonight's games meet Wednesday for the championship. The losers play for the consolation title.

Haloween's Surge Wins Regal Steeplechase

LONDON (AP)—Haloween, a 9-year-old jumper, went into the lead over the last fence and won the three mile King George VI steeplechase at Kempton Park Monday by six lengths. The race is one of the features of the holiday season in England.

Jockey Fred Winter kept Haloween at the rear of the eight-horse field but came on with a strong finish in the stretch to win first money of $5,958.

TCU Advances To 2nd Round

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Field goals by Ray Warren and Bill Estill in the last 90 seconds gave Texas Christian a 74-71 victory over Southern Methodist Monday night to complete the opening round of the fourth annual Southwest Conference Basketball Tournament.

Arkansas' Razorbacks earlier had used a thrilling second-half comeback to defeat defending tournament champion Rice 73-66.

Two afternoon games that were settled in the final minutes saw Alabama, the guest team, turn back Baylor 70-67 and Texas A&M upset the University of Texas 66-61.

Today's semifinals match Arkansas against Alabama at 7:30 p.m. CST and Texas Christian against A&M at 9 p.m.

Consolation pairings place Rice against Baylor at 2 p.m. and Southern Methodist against Texas at 4 p.m.

TCU held a brief 9-point lead in the first half against SMU, but the Mustangs, playing without their injured captain, guard Art Barnes, came back strong in the second half.

The lead changed hands eight times in the final 20 minutes and the game was tied five times, the last at 70-70 with 3½ minutes to play.

Except for the opening minutes, Arkansas trailed Rice by as much as 13 points until a 10-point surge by Scroggins in the second half put the Porks within striking distance at 51-55.

Joe Says $70 Million Granted To Slavs Should Go To Chiang

Funds For An Invasion Proposed

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), said Monday night that the administration has made a secret $70 million dollar allocation to Yugoslavia and proposed instead that the funds be given to Chiang Kai-shek so he can invade Red China.

McCarthy, in an exclusive interview with INS-Telenews, said the funds for the anti-Soviet but Communist Tito government were granted by the Foreign Operations Administration headed by Harold E. Stassen.

He commented: "We might well use some of that money equipping Chiang's troops."

McCarthy announced this weekend that he will wage a vigorous public speaking campaign advocating an indirect blockade of the Chinese Communist coast and more aid to Chiang for equipping his Nationalist forces on Formosa for an invasion of the mainland.

"Advisors" The Wisconsin Republican, who was "condemned" by the Senate earlier this month, also asserted that he and President Eisenhower could get along, but that White House advisors are determined to keep them in disagreement.

He said that before he became involved in a bitter clash with the administration, which led to the Army-McCarthy hearings, he sought a personal appointment with the President but never received it.

In declaring that he could get along with the chief executive, McCarthy commented: "The differences are occasioned by the advisors around the White House and they will do everything possible to keep us from having any semblance of agreement." He declined to identify the advisors by name.

ROK Soldiers Got A Big Pay Boost

SEOUL (INS) — American and South Korean defense officials have agreed to double the pay and food and clothing allowances of the South Korean armed services. The move, announced by Defense Minister Adm. Sohn Won Yil, is part of the $700-million U.S. aid program scheduled for South Korea for the current fiscal year.

No More 'Hot Tuna'

TOKYO (INS) — Japan is reportedly ready to call a halt to the "hot tuna" scare of 1954. The Japanese cabinet plans its last formal meeting of the year and is expected to formally halt the Geiger counter checks of all Pacific fish entering Japan through five authorized ports.

Notice to General Contractors

Sealed proposals will be received by the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, at the office of the City Clerk, Theo. H. Berg, until 10:00 o'clock a.m., Central Standard Time, January 12, 1955, at which time and place all proposals will be immediately and publicly opened and read for Contract No. 4. Additions to the "A" Street Station of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, as shown in this Notice, and more fully explained in complete plans and specifications on file with said City Clerk.

The work is briefly described as follows: Contract 4. Section 1. Installation of four new water pumps and the motor drive thereon, and suction and discharge piping, including valves and meters; removal of two existing pumps and motors, their foundations, and the piping which interferes with placing new piping; and the construction of new foundations, pipe supports, reservoir sumps, manholes, pump house substructures and miscellaneous items.

Contract 4. Section 2. Electric wiring for four new water pumps and the starting and control equipment thereon; installation of new auto-transformer; supplying certain apparatus and the alteration of four existing switchboard panels; wiring between transmitters and receivers of four Venturi meters; removal of three transformers and existing wiring which interferes with placing new wiring; and miscellaneous electrical items. Pumps, motors, piping, valves, meters, and various other equipment and supplies, as shown in detail in the technical specifications, have been heretofore purchased and delivered to the City and are to be used in constructing this project.

Each bidder may submit a bid for one of the sections listed above and he may also submit a separate bid for the other section. The Engineer's estimates of cost are as follows: Section 1, the sum of $63,000.00; Section 2, the sum of $13,000.00.

A performance bond, in amount equal to 100% of the contract price, shall be supplied by the successful bidder as part of his contract. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or cashier's check, drawn on a bank which is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, in a sum equal to at least 5% of the amount bid, and made payable to Frank J. Miller, City Treasurer of Lincoln, Nebraska, as guarantee that the bidder to whom the award is made will enter into contract and furnish the required bond.

Detailed plans and specifications may be seen in the office of the City Clerk, the City Engineer, and the Consulting Engineers, Fulton & Kramer, 922 Third Building, Lincoln, Nebraska. Bidders desiring plans and specifications for their individual work may obtain the same from the office of the Consulting Engineers upon a deposit of Ten Dollars per set. If such plans and specifications are returned to said Engineers in good condition, within ten days after the contract award, a certificate refunding the cost of reproduction and mailing being deducted will be made to unsuccessful bidders.

Bids made upon blanks other than those furnished with the Contract Documents, or extra duplicates thereof, will be rejected. The City reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive informalities in bids submitted. The City also reserves the right to take up to 15 days for consideration of the bids received, during which time no bids may be withdrawn. City of Lincoln, Nebraska. Theo. H. Berg, City Clerk

Why Famous Clinic Approves This PILE-REDUCING FORMULA:

Thousands of people now can report they have helped reduce even advanced cases of swollen, itching, bleeding piles and even put off surgery indefinitely, with ointment formula approved by staff of Thornton Minor Clinic. This medical-surgical group's records on more than 75,000 actual clinic and hospital cases has shown what is really needed for safe, effective non-surgical treatment. These doctors know when operation is needed—when it is avoidable—what type of prescription is most effective for shrinking piles the non-surgical way. So, get this ointment approved by this specialized professional group—ask for Thornton Minor Clinic's pile treatment today at any drug store, treatment or suppository form, $1.00.

Crosby Names Pettygrove To Rail Board

Paul E. Pettygrove, Oxford attorney, Monday was appointed to the State Railway Commission succeeding the late Harold Palmer, Gov. Robert Crosby announced. The appointment is effective Jan. 3, 1955.

He will serve the two years remaining of Palmer's term. Pettygrove received his law degree at the University of Nebraska.

Palmer died Dec. 6 after a short illness. He was first elected to the board for a short term in 1948 and was re-elected in 1950 for the term Pettygrove will complete.

Pettygrove was outstate campaign manager for Gov. Crosby during this year's primary when he was unsuccessful in getting the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

More Teeth Of Peking Man Found, Peiping Radio Says

TOKYO (Tuesday) (AP) — Peiping radio said that Chinese scientists have found a couple more teeth of Peking man, who inhabited the earth about 500,000 years ago.

A broadcast said Dr. Young Chung-chien, paleontologist with the Chinese Academy of Sciences, made a report on Peking man discoveries at a gathering of scientists in Peiping on the 25th anniversary of the discovery of the first skull bones.

Dr. Young said that since 1949, scientists exploring the site of the original discovery had found five teeth and two bone fragments. Peiping in February of 1953 announced that three teeth and some bone fragments had been unearthed.

Dr. Pei Wen-Chung, who made the first find of skull bones in December of 1929, attended the meeting and read a paper on paleolithic culture in China, the broadcast said.

The site of the Peking man discoveries is Choukoutien, 30 miles southwest of Peiping.

Apology Asked

SEOUL (INS) — South Korean Premier-Foreign Minister Y. T. Pyun declared that Japan would have to forego her claims to 85 percent of Korean property and apologize for an alleged diplomatic insult before peace talks could be resumed. Pyun's statement at a news conference threw cold water on rising speculation that Japan and South Korea were about to resume talks which broke up with ill-feelings in October, 1953.

Employer Wins

SHERIDAN, Ind. (AP) — Ken Biddle's campaigns to get his factory employees to quit smoking have worked so well that he posted his offer for a third year—$100 to anyone who swears off smoking through all 1955.

Out of nine who signed the pledge Jan. 1, Biddle paid off to eight at the Christmas party of Biddle Screw Products Co. employees. A year ago, only six stuck it out among 19 who signed up.

"I had trouble with irregularity for years. I tried almost every kind of laxative without much help. Six months ago I began to eat Kellogg's All-Brans. Now I feel like a new person." Mr. Rudolph Schultz, 3012 S. Lloyd Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

Good-tasting Kellogg's All-Brans provides natural laxative bulk you need daily. No drug-type laxative can remedy constipation due to lack of bulk. But Kellogg's All-Brans can. All-Brans is scientifically milled to bring you nature's best bulk-forming food in its most effective cereal form. Remember, there's only one All-Brans—Kellogg's, the original. It will have you comfortably regular within 10 days or double your money back.

A HOT POTATO-

U.S. May Admit Captive Russ Sailors

Their Ship Seized By Nationalists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is reported considering whether to admit 15 to 20 Russian seamen who were aboard a Soviet tanker seized by the Chinese Nationalists.

Government agencies, it was learned Monday, have been passing the problem back and forth like a hot potato trying to decide whether it is in the national interest to accept the men.

The sailors are reported willing to change countries if, in the United States, they can live near other Russian-speaking refugees.

On Formosa

All are now in Nationalist custody on Formosa along with other members of the 48-man crew. Their ship, the Tuapse, was captured by Nationalist warships last June 23 some 125 miles south of Formosa as it headed for Communist China.

The 15 to 20 are believed to be the first Soviet merchant seamen ever to express willingness to desert to the United States in a group.

In order to admit them Atty. Gen. Brownell would have to waive immigration laws which bar entry to present or former Communists.

Must Further Interests

This could be done only after it was decided after consultation with other government departments it would further the security interests of the United States to do so.

Brownell once made such a ruling in the case of 22 Polish sailors who were allowed to enter the United States after being seized by Chinese Nationalists while manning ships near Formosa.

Though the State Department and other agencies declined to talk about it, it is understood a decision on the Russians has been held up by these cold war questions:

1. Whether admitting the men would worsen relations with Russia, especially since Moscow has protested seizure of the tanker and crew and has accused the United States of helping grab it. The State Department has denied this accusation.

2. Whether die-hard Communist agents could have been planted among the defectors.

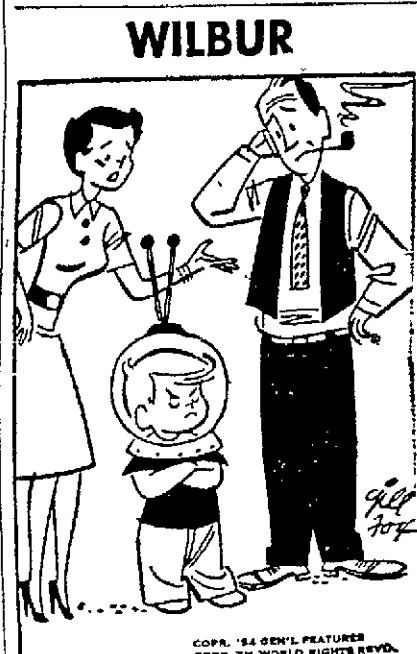

3. Whether American volunteer welfare agencies would look after the sailors or guarantee their behavior once they were in the United States. The National Catholic Welfare Council sponsored the Polish sailor refugees and found jobs for them.

As against these questions, officials in favor of admitting the Soviet seamen argue it would be a far-reaching cold war stroke in that it might encourage other Russian sailors to jump ship.

These officials say if the case is properly publicized, Moscow eventually would become so worried about the loyalty of its sailors that extraordinary measures would be taken to guard them every time they put in Western ports. Such precautions, it is believed, would hurt morale aboard Soviet ships, making them a less reliable instrument of Soviet policy.

"But Dad and I can breathe without space helmets... besides, I've got to wash your head!"

MARTHA RAYE RECUPERATING AT REST HOME

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Comedienne Martha Raye is recuperating at a rest home in Cincinnati and will remain there for "a few weeks," her doctor here reported Monday.

Dr. Ralph Robbins, who ordered Miss Raye to bed shortly before she was to star in a night club opening in Miami Beach Friday, said she is getting along well.

He withheld the name of the rest home.

"The object of placing her there was to assure absolute quiet," he reported. "She was on the verge of a nervous breakdown."

Miss Raye will go to her home in Westport, Conn., after leaving the rest home, and after that will resume her television shows "if she is able," said Dr. Robbins.

Condra Released From Hospital

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Dr. George Condra, 85-year-old retired University of Nebraska conservation division dean, has left Bataan Memorial Hospital here.

He was taken by train Friday to the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. E. MacFarlane, Glendale, Calif.

Dr. Condra was injured in an auto accident at Cline's Corners, 52 miles east of Albuquerque Dec. 11.

POLICE KILL ROBBER IN GUN BATTLE

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A 20-year-old youth was shot to death in a gun battle with police Monday a few minutes after he held up the same gas station for the second time in two weeks.

Police said Gerald Beckert, who got $40 in a holdup at William Brouder's gas station Dec. 17, returned to the station Monday. He told Brouder, "just do like you did last time and no one will get hurt." The youth fled with $50.

Police, alerted by Brouder's telephone call, spotted Beckert's car stalled a block from the gas station. They exchanged shots with the youth before Beckert jumped into another car and fled. He ran into a police roadblock and abandoned the second vehicle amidst further gunshots.

Beckert fell mortally wounded. As police rushed up to handcuff him, he gasped, "you won't need those." He died 10 minutes later.

Head Hastings College Returns For Ceremony

DUBUQUE, Ia. (AP)—Dr. Dale D. Welch, president of Hastings College, returned here Monday to give the benediction at ceremonies inaugurating the opening of toll free traffic at the Julien Dubuque Bridge.

He performed the same office at the bridge dedication in 1943.

Resisting Law, Careless Driving Nets $100 Fine

Jerald C. Hughes, 23, of 445 Adams was fined $100 in Lancaster County Court after he pleaded guilty Monday in charges of resisting an officer and careless driving.

State Safety Patrolman James Kontos was struck in the mouth by Hughes, breaking a tooth, after the trooper had taken the defendant into custody after observing his car "wandering in traffic" on the Cornhusker Highway early Friday morning, according to the testimony.

Kontos said in court that "Hughes had been drinking." En route back to Lincoln, Hughes hit the trooper in the mouth and after Kontos got his cruiser back under control, he put handcuffs on Hughes.

Kontos said Mrs. Hughes was very co-operative, but Hughes was belligerent.

Hughes' attorney said the defendant "feels very humble about the incident. It wouldn't have happened except that he had been drinking."

Answering a question by Judge Herbert Ronin, Hughes said he because "I didn't want to miss my daughter's baptism we had planned. The patrolman said he was taking me to jail."

Kontos said that while he was in a motel office with Mrs. Hughes while she called relatives to come and get her and their 11-month-old child, because she didn't have a driver's license, Hughes "took off wearing the handcuffs" but turned himself in later Friday at the Safety Patrol office.

Hughes said he had been at a company party earlier in the evening and after being brought home by another couple, was going back to "apologize for my conduct" at the party. He was en route back with his family when stopped by the trooper.

Judge Ronin said he would not impose jail time on Hughes, who spent the Christmas holidays at the county jail, and fined the carpenter $50 on each offense.

Busy Mother's Guide to Easier Shopping

All are at your fingertips in the classified section of your telephone directory. You'll find just what you want and quickly because names of products, businesses and services are listed, and often described, under headings of items you are looking for.

That's why buyers find the yellow pages a fast and reliable reference. And sellers find them a most effective and profitable medium of advertising.
